During the calendar year ending December 31, 1904, the number of volumes actually received (including exchanges) was 30,884, and of pamphlets, 88,592.

The number of volumes catalogued was 33,356, and of pamphlets, 30,892. The total number of cards written was 121,319.

The total number of readers during the calendar year was 192,522, the number of desk applicants was 151,692, and the number of volumes consulted by these desk applicants was 549,696, not including those used at the free reference shelves.

There are now on the shelves of the Astor and Lenox Branches of the Library, available for readers, 642,895 volumes and 247,357 pamphlets. These with the 445,496 volumes in the circulation department give a total of 1,088,391 volumes and 247,357 pamphlets in the whole system available for readers.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT.

On December 31, 1904, the Cathedral Free Library turned over its real and personal property to the New York Public Library and the Circulation Department took charge of its five branches. In the year just ended it had circulated 343,962 volumes, and at the time of consolidation it had 49,812 volumes on its shelves.

During the calendar year ending December 31, 1904, the Circulation Department (22 branches) circulated for home use 3,222,491 volumes; the number of readers consulting books from the shelves was 400,365; the number of new registrations was 54,996; the number of adult readers was 282,334, total number of readers being 435,542; the number of volumes accessioned was 26,624, giving a total of 395,684 volumes on the shelves. The addition of the former Cathedral branches brings the department total number available to 445,496 volumes, and the total circulation for home use to 3,566,453 volumes.

The most popular books of the month were (in non-fiction): Knox's "Japanese Life in Town and Country," Lavignac's "Music Dramas of Richard Wagner," and Ulmann's "Landmark History of New York"; (adult fiction): Thurston's "The Masquerader," Wiggin's "The Affair at the Inn," and Caine's "The Prodigal Son"; (juvenile fiction): Wiggin's "Birds' Christmas Carol," Alcott's "Little Women," and Barbour's "Arrival of Jimpson."

NICHOLAS BIDDLE TO JAMES MONROE IN 1816 ON THE BOUNDARY OF LOUISIANA.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

PHIL^A NOV^R 25, 1816

DEAR SIR.

There is a very curious collection of maps here in the possession of Mr Mellish the geographer to whom I have recommended to forward it to you. It is a General Atlas published in England in the year 1721*. What renders it interesting to us, is the map of Louisiana which must of course have been copied from the French maps of that period and in which the western limit of Louisiana is marked by a coloured & dotted line running along the Rio del Norte from its mouth to the entrance of a river called Rio Salado de Apaches de los siete rios, but which in Humboldts & the later maps is named Rio Puerco and up that river to the mountains. I have no where seen the western limit so strongly designated.

This subject has long been familiar to you, and you may perhaps in the course of your researches have seen this very map, but I thought it worth while to mention it in case you may not have met with the work. If that question ever comes into discussion there are a number of works relating to Louisiana in the library of Philadelphia & of the Philosophical society, from which I could at any time extract such information as related to the boundary.

The result of the election in this & the neighboring States leaves no doubt as to the next Presidency.

The state of the votes here is so singular as to require some explanation. Penn^a can furnish about 120,000 voters, yet only 43000 voted at the last election & the majority for the successful ticket was about 8000. The small number of votes given in is ascribable wholly to the confidence of success which prevented the majority from making any exertion, and the opposition itself was owing in a great degree to the prevailing dislike to the interference of members of Congress in the choice of a President. But what I think it right that you should understand distinctly is that neither the opposition ticket nor the smallness of the majority had any connection with the personal character of the candidate. Of this there can be no stronger demonstration than the fact that the opposition ticket contained many who if they had been chosen would have voted for you, and in truth I doubt whether you have anywhere in the Union a more confirmed popularity than in Pennsylvania.

You are resuming your winter labors & I am preparing for my journey to Harrisburg. I will therefore only add that I am very sincerely

yrs

NICHOLAS BIDDLE

Hon^{ble} JAMES MONROE

LIST OF PERIODICALS IN THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, GENERAL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY, AND UNION THEO-LOGICAL SEMINARY RELATING TO RELIGION,
THEOLOGY, AND CHURCH HISTORY.

Works in the New York Public Library are indicated by the letter N following the title, those in the General Theological Seminary by G, those in Union Theological Seminary by U.

Lists of Jewish periodicals were printed in the BULLETIN, vol. 6 (1902), pp. 258-264, vol. 7 (1903), pp. 30-31. Periodicals relating to Palestine, oriental archæology, etc., were included in the list of periodicals relating to archæology, vol. 1 (1897), pp. 212-226.

Titles of a few important religious weekly newspapers, etc., are included in this list, but both Union Seminary and New York Public Library have incomplete files of many such papers not mentioned here.

Among the important gifts of the month was a collection of 1,224 prompt books bequeathed to the library by the late George Becks. Mr. Becks, who died in St. Louis in May, 1904, was born in Manchester, England, came to this country at the age of 19, and played for many years in stock and travelling companies, such as Niblo's, Laura Keene's, Booth's, Mrs. Lander's, and others; his collection comprises mainly the English and American theatre of the 19th century, but includes as well a number of classical plays of earlier date.

From the Century Association were received 480 volumes of the Mercure de France, which had been presented to the Century some years ago by Hon. John Bigelow; as these numbers added to the library file would make a fairly complete set from 1717 to 1820, the transfer was made by the Century with Mr. Bigelow's consent.

Other gifts came from Benjamin Adams, a copy of Henry R. Stiles' "History of Ancient Wethersfield, Connecticut," 1904, 2 vols.; from the National Board of Education of Argentine Republic, through Miss Ernestina Lopez, 13 volumes and 39 pamphlets, being text-books used in the schools of the Argentine Republic; from the Hofjægermester of Denmark, Carl Bech, 47 volumes and 18 pamphlets, publications of the Samvirkende Danske Landboforeninger; from the Bibliotheca e Museu da Marinha, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, 2 volumes of its catalogue, 1904; from the Imperial Maritime Customs Department of China, 53 volumes and 130 pamphlets, being reports on the trade at the treaty ports in China, and reports on the trade, navigation, industries, etc., of ports open to foreign commerce in China and Corea, the whole covering the period of about the last 40 years, etc.; from the Colonial Order of the Acorn, "Views of Early New York," being six views of the city engraved by E. D. French from the Vanderdonck, Meurs-Montanus, Seutter, Burgis, Russell, Rollinson originals, with text by six members of the order, privately printed, 1904; from the Timothy Bigelow Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, its "List of Soldiers in the War of the Revolution from Worcester, Mass.," 1902, and "A Book of Beverages" published by the Chapter in 1904; from the Mayors of Italian cities, 70 volumes, being publications of local Municipal Councils; from Miss Josephine E. Hodgdon, 26 volumes and 35 pamphlets, publications of the National Educational Association; from the India Office, 127 volumes and 27 pamphlets, being administration reports, census reports, etc.; from the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, a volume descriptive of the New York Subway, its construction and equipment; from John S. Kennedy, a copy of the "Bibliorum SS. Græcorum Codex Vaticanus 1209 (Cod. B.), denuo phototypice expressus iussu cura Præsidium Bybliotheçæ Vaticanæ, pars altera Testamentum Novum" (Milan: U. Hoepli, 1904), being v. 4 of the "Codices e Vaticanis Selecti," No. 81 of 100 copies printed; from Hon. W. P. Letchworth, 1 volume, "Poets and Poetry of Buffalo," edited by James N. Johnston, 1904; from the Town Clerk of London, 1 volume, "Calendar of Letter Books... Letter Book F, circa 1337-1352," London, 1904; from Miss Margaret C. Marsh, two collections of musical scores and vocal music, comprising 405 pieces, published in the United States, most of them between 1830 and 1860; from the Secretaria de Relaciones Exteriores of Mexico, 36 volumes, "Le Mexique au début du XXe Siècle," par MM. Prince Roland Bonaparte, Léon Bourgeois, Jules Claretie and others, and other publications; from the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of New York City, 16 volumes of their "Proceedings," 1844 to 1902; from James W. T. Scott, 120 numbers of the "Public Ledger" of Philadelphia, 1876; from Charles Scribner's Sons, 32 volumes and 7 pamphlets; and from the Unione Italiana Tramways Elettrici, Genova, Italy, 1 volume and 2 pamphlets of their publications.

At the recent sale of duplicates from the library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania the library secured five folio volumes of Votes of the Pennsylvania House, printed by Franklin between 1731 and 1757, two separate acts of Pennsylvania forbidding swearing, and regulating Sabbath observance, printed by T. Bradford in 1794, and seventeen Federal financial and naval documents, folio and octavo, printed between 1798 and 1803.

At the LENOX Branch the exhibition of etchings by Félix Bracquemond and Robert F. Blum was continued, as was also the exhibition of Japanese prints. In addition, etchings by the late R. Swain Gifford were placed on view on the lower floor, where the Century Company's gift of prepared wood blocks, half-tone plates and electrotypes was also exhibited. At the ASTOR the plates illustrating anniversaries and holidays were continued.

At the TOMPKINS SQUARE Branch the print room exhibition of plates from Maudsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan" was continued, as were the exhibitions of the Racinet costume plates at the 125TH STREET Branch and the plates from Wilkie's Gallery at the CHATHAM SQUARE Branch. At the 67TH STREET Branch the Hollyer etchings were exhibited and at the YORKVILLE Branch the Racinet costume plates for the period after the 16th century.

At the Circulation branches the picture bulletins and temporary collections of books on special shelves (many being selected with reference to the Free Lectures of the Board of Education) were as follows:

THOMAS M. NEWELL TO DAVID PORTER ON PIRACY IN THE WEST INDIES IN 1823.

From the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

UNITED STATES SCHOONER
FERRET, THOMPSON ISLAND
JUNE 25. 1823.

SIR

Persuant to your instructions, I left this place on the 14th inst on a cruise to Trinnadad on the south side of Cuba in company with the Beagle Cap^t Newton. On the second day we parted company and on the third day I made the Havanna (on my way to Matanzas) from thence I commenced a diligent search in all the by ports and bays, on Tuesday sending a boat into Canise and obtained information that some Pirates were still larking about the coast. During the night I kept close in with the land & on Wednesday at 10 A. M. discovered an armed barge with 16 oars and well manned, in a small bay called Bacuna Yeanga. I immediately sent Leu^t Dorning with five men the most any boat could carry, to examine all the boats, there being seven in number; he approached within fifty yards of the barge when the crew shew their character, by opening a fire on him with musketry & blunderbusses, which fortunately did no other damage than nearly to sink the boat, she having received a ball at the water edge, five others were found in the boat, which being nearly spent had struck the water & innocently jumped into her, my boat at no time was suitable for the transportation of men & now rendered useless, induced me to take possession of a small coaster that was near & man her with fifteen men & at that time intended to stand in if possible with the Ferret in order to cover the men while they took possession of the barge which then had the American colours union down, but on approaching found that the channel wou'd not admit of my entering, it then blowing very hard and a heavy sea on, I deemed it proper to recall the coaster which had liked to have gotten ashore, for had that catastrophe ocured, I question much whether the pirates would have had the gratification of butchering them, as they certainly would have been drown'd—the sea was then breaking with great violence over the reef that covered the bay. I was then compelled to resort to making tacks close in with the reef, and giving them long tom with round & grape, in hopes to destroy the boats. As to killing any of them it was impossible, for on the approach of the Ferret they would completely secure themselves behind the rocks & trees which hung all around the harbour, but this I was frustrated in by the enormous roughness of the sea, and the wind being on shore, prevent me from taking any position from which I could anoy them much, finding it impossible to do anything with the means then in my power, I stood out to sea in hopes to fall in with some vessel from which I could get available boat (but I am sorry to say that it was not until the next morning that my wishes were obtained) & if that could not be done to push to Matanzas, to concoct a plan with the governor by which the pirates as well as their boats may be taken. I however obtained a boat from an English vessel, & immediately bore up for the same place which was then but a short distance off. I had not run but a short time when I discovered a Spanish brig of war laying too off the bay, which proved to be the Matas, on the report being sent to the Governor of Matanzas that one of the U. S. Schooners were engaged with the Pirates, he dispatched this brig and at the same time took with him a land force and had arrived there a few minutes before me, and had taken possession of a small schooner boat the Pirates had abandoned and which lay on the beach, I sent in my boat after he had left, and ordered a search, when two of the boats I had seen the day I attacked them, were found sunk well up a lagoon, which upon further examination extended several miles into the island, and have no doubt but that the large barge is now at the head of it, but not being prepared with boats I did not think it proper to send my boats out of [reach?] of the Ferret. The two boats I have brought over and shall await your orders relative thereto,

On my arrival at Matanzas I found my main mast very dangerously sprung, which made it necessary for me to return home, but not until I had given convoy to eight of our merchantmen, from Matanzas & Havanna,

I have the honor to be

Sir,

Very Respectfully

Your Ob^t Sv^t

THOS. M. NEWELL

From Hon. John Bigelow were received two volumes of "The Ladies Magazine; An Entertaining Companion for the Fair Sex appropriated solely to their Use and Amusement," for 1793 and 1794, containing the first publication in English of Franklin's autobiography, being the only time it was ever published as a serial. The translation was from the French version, in which the work shortly before had been given to the public two years after Franklin's death (1790).

Other gifts were: From Henryk Arctowski, 28 of his pamphlets relating to Antarctic exploration; from the K. u. K. Reichs-Kriegs Ministerium, 9 of its publications; from the Brazilian Consul General at New York, 17 volumes and 1 Atlas relating to the boundary question between Brazil and British Guiana; from Cleveland H. Dodge, 165 volumes and 8 pamphlets, including 60 copies of the "Physiological Aspects of the Liquor Problem"; from Mrs. Henry Draper, 4 volumes, 5 pamphlets, and 72 prints, including a collection of Little Russian folk songs; from the Edinburgh Bibliographical Society a List of books printed in Scotland before 1700; from Mrs. Paul L. Ford, 277 volumes and 31 pamphlets, including various editions of Weems' "Life of Washington" and early American novels; from the Librarian of the Haus der Abgeordneten of Prussia, the "Bücher-Verzeichnis des Hauses der Abgeordneten," 1900-1902, in 3 volumes; from Rev. Joseph H. McMahon, a German manuscript, probably written in the 16th century, containing a collection of medical receipts; from Dr. William James Morton, 2 photographs representing Dr. T. G. Morton's tuition tickets at Harvard Medical School, 1845, and a Diploma of Washington University granting Dr. Morton the Honorary Degree of M.D.; from the National Council of the Congregational Churches of the United States, the "Congregational Year-books" for 1893, 1901, 1902 and 1904; from the Polish Socialist Society of London, 14 volumes and 79 pamphlets of their publications; from Victor H. Paltsits, a copy of his "Bibliography of the Writings of Baron La Hontan"; from John Robinson, 5 annuals, including "The Jewel" for 1839, 1843, and 1846; from Elihu Root, his Argument before the Attorney General on the Canal Improvement Act; from the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association, 18 volumes, being the writings of Thomas Jefferson, Monticello edition; from the Vermont State Library, 13 volumes and 18 pamphlets, state documents; from Paul Weir, 3 volumes of the "Royal Gazette" of Bermuda; and from the Deutsche Gesellschaft von Pennsylvanien, 33 of their "Jahresberichte," 3 mounted photographs representing the laying of the cornerstone of their new building, 1888, and 8 pamphlets relating to the Germans in Philadelphia.

One of the important purchases of the month was a volume of "Laws Of Her Majesties Colony of New-York," printed in this city by William Bradford in 1710. With this volume in the Library our file of the New York digests is complete so far as the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are concerned; 1694, 1710, 1713, 1726, 1752, 1762, 1774, 1784, 1789, 1792-1797 (first to the third, fifth to the eleventh), all are New York imprints, 1719 (fourth in the series) is the London reprint.

At the LENOX Branch the exhibitions of etchings by Félix Bracquemond, Robert F. Blum, and R. Swain Gifford were continued during the month, as was also that of the Smith collection of Japanese prints and the Century Company's printing exhibit. To the Gifford Exhibition there were added on February 15 three graphite drawings, by I. Ferris Lockwood, after paintings by Gifford. At the ASTOR Branch the plates illustrating anniversaries and holidays occurring in January to March were continued.

At the TOMPKINS SQUARE Branch the Print Room exhibition of plates from Audsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan" was continued, as were the exhibitions of Racinet's costume plates at the 125TH STREET Branch and the Hollyer etchings at the 67TH STREET Branch. At CHATHAM SQUARE the plates from the Wilkie Gallery remained on view, and at YORKVILLE Racinet's costume plates, Part 2 (after the XVIth Century).

At the Circulation branches the picture bulletins and temporary collections of books on special shelves were as follows: At all of the branches, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. In addition to these there were at CHATHAM SQUARE, Charles Dickens, Lew Wallace; EAST BROADWAY, Famous men and women born in February, BOND STREET, Making of an empire, Anthracite coal, California, Patriotic songs, Texas, New books; OTTENDORFER, Sociology, African geography; TOMPKINS SQUARE, Famous men and women born in February, Germany; JACKSON SQUARE, New books, France; MUHLENBERG, Cow boy life, Songs of Burns, Wonders of Colorado, The violin, California, Brittany and Normandy, Touraine, Switzerland; FIFTY-NINTH STREET, Longfellow, Famous men and women born in February; RIVERSIDE, New books; SEVENTY-SIXTH STREET, Music, Questions of the day, St. Valentine's day; YORKVILLE, New books; ST. AGNES, France, Eastern geography; BLOOMINGDALE, Lew Wallace, Wild animals; AGUILAR, Famous men and women born in February; ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH STREET, Lew Wallace; TOTTEVILLE, Our country, a story, South America, The making of a newspaper.

The new building for the RIVERSIDE Branch at 190 Amsterdam Avenue, between 68th and 69th Streets, was opened with formal exercises on Thursday, February 16th, at 4.30 P. M. Hon. Alfred J. Tailey, Civil Service Commissioner, the designated representative of the Mayor, presided and accepted the building on behalf of the City from Hon. John L. Cadwalader, who turned it over on behalf of the Trustees of the New York Public Library. Addresses were also made by Frank Dodd, Esq., President of the Riverside Association, and by Dr. J. S. Billings, Director of the Library. Music was furnished by the Glee Club and Orchestra of the High School of Commerce. This branch building is the seventh erected by the Public Library from the Carnegie fund. The branch library that occupies it was first opened in connection with the Riverside Association in its building at 259 West 69th Street on February 3, 1894. It was turned over to the New York Free Circulating Library on May 6, 1897, and received as a branch of the Public Library on February 23, 1901. After several removals it finds a permanent home in the new building just dedicated.

COLLATION OF THE VARIOUS ISSUES OF THE AMERICAN DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE (1776-1783, 1783-1789) IN THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY.

By A. R. HASSE, Chief of the Document Department.

Because of frequent inquiries for information about the two series of printed diplomatic correspondence known as the Diplomatic Correspondence of the American Revolution (1776-1783) and Diplomatic Correspondence of the United States (1783-1789), and because of frequent confusion of the two series, or of their various issues, as noted in catalogues, the following statement is made of the set owned by the New York Public Library. The set is believed to be complete.

Of the first series, which covers the period 1776-1783, two editions were issued, namely :

- [1] Boston and New York, 1829-1830. 12 volumes. 8°.
- [2] Washington: John C. Rives, 1857. 6 volumes. 8°.

Of the second series, which covers the period 1783-1789, three editions were issued, namely :

- [1] Washington: F. P. Blair, 1833-1834. 7 volumes. 8°.
- [2] Washington: Blair & Rives, 1837. 7 volumes. 8°.
- [3] Washington: Blair & Rives, 1837. 3 volumes. 8°.

The detailed statement is as follows :

[Series I, 1776-1783.]

On Dec. 22, 1830, it was resolved, on motion of Gulian C. Verplanck, representative from New York, "that the Committee on the Library be instructed to inquire into the expediency of ordering to be published, under the direction of the Secretary of State, the diplomatic correspondence of the United States under the old Confederation, from the peace of 1783 to the organization of the Government after the adoption of the present constitution" (21. 2. H. Jol., 91). On Feb. 10, 1831, Mr. Everett, from the Committee on the Library, pursuant to the above resolution, reported a joint resolution, which was read the first time and then was not heard of again (ib., 290). The twenty-first congress adjourned on March 3, 1831.

During the first session of the next congress, Mr. Verplanck again took up the subject, and on March 9, 1832, he introduced a bill (22. 1. H. R. 457) "making an appropriation for the publication of certain diplomatic correspondence, etc." (22. 1. H. Jol., 454). The report accompanying the bill (22. 1. H. rpt. 356) includes a list, submitted by Edward Livingston, then Secretary of State, of the correspondence in the State Department, which, properly, would be included in the contemplated publication. The provisions of this bill (H. R. 457) were afterwards transferred to the general appropriation bill for 1832, approved May 5, 1832 (4 St. L., 513), and read "To enable the Secretary of State to cause to be printed, under his direction, a selection from the diplomatic correspondence of the United States, between . . . [1783-1789] remaining unpublished in the Department of State, twelve thousand dollars."

(Distribution.)

During the first session of the twenty-third congress, on May 9, 1834, a letter from the Secretary of State (Louis McLane) was presented to the Senate, in which the secretary stated that 965 sets of the correspondence printed under act of May 5, 1832, had been placed in charge of the clerk of the House, and were at the disposition of Congress. The letter was referred to the Joint Committee on the Library (23. 1. S. Jol., 254). On May 13, the same letter was presented to the House and was similarly referred (23. 1. H. Jol., 621, 624). On June 4, 1834, Mr. Everett, from the Joint Committee on the Library, reported a joint resolution (23. 1. H. J. res. 6) "providing for the distribution of Diplomatic Correspondence of the United States, 1783-1789" (23. 1. H. Jol., 693). This joint resolution was approved June 18 (4 St. L., 743).

This edition is not mentioned in Sabin or in Poore, and is sometimes found in catalogues confused with the 1833-34 edition. It collates identically as to pages with the 1833-34 edition. It is not a re-issue, however, from the same type, but has been set up from a new body of type. While it collates similarly as to paging with the earlier edition, it does not do so as to lines. Note line 5 on page 213 respectively of the two editions; note also error in page numbering of p. 213 of the 1833-34 edition, which has been correctly printed in the 1837 edition. Although the lining of the title-page is the same in the two editions, the font of type used is unmistakably different.

The most important gifts received during the month were: from the Burgomaster of Antwerp, 14 volumes and 5 pamphlets, being the "Bulletin Communal de la Ville d'Anvers," etc.; from the Estate of George Becks, 233 pieces, being an addition to the bequest noted in February; from the Commission de la Belgica, 17 of their publications on Antarctic exploration; from Mrs. Albert W. Berg, 14 volumes of musical journals; from the British Museum, 5 volumes, being the "Catalogue of the Greek Coins of Cyprus," by George F. Hill, 1904, "Catalogue of the Terracottas in the Department of Greek and Roman Antiquities," by H. B. Walters, 1903, "Index to the Sloane Manuscripts," by Edward J. L. Scott, etc.; from the Cassella Color Company, 8 volumes of their publications on dye stuffs; from Samuel Colman, 35 of his etchings; from Mrs. Henry Draper, 43 volumes and 51 pamphlets, being a collection of folk songs of various countries; from Louis R. Ehrich, a copy of the edition de luxe of the catalogue of the Ehrich Gallery of paintings; from H. O. Haughton, 13 of his monographs on shipping, etc.; from the "India Rubber World," 12 volumes and 16 pamphlets of publications relating to the Argentine Confederation, etc.; from Arthur Lovell, copies of his "Ars Vivendi" and "Beauty of Tone in Speech and Song"; from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, copies of its illustrated catalogue of paintings; from the Secretary of State of New York, the current Senate and Assembly documents in 21 volumes; from Hon. Redfield Proctor, "Records of Conventions in the New Hampshire Grants for the Independence of Vermont, 1776-1777," reproduced in facsimile from manuscripts in the Library of Congress, Washington, 1904; from Philip Schuyler, 191 copies of the "Life of General Philip Schuyler," by Bayard Tuckerman, 1905; from Mrs. Theodore Sutro, 2 copies of her book "Milestones on Life's Pathway"; from Herbert L. Thowless, 7 volumes and 57 pamphlets, being reports of the Board of Trade and various city documents of Newark, N. J.; and from the Secretary of State of West Virginia, 17 documents, being journals and bills of the Senate, etc.

During the month two new circulation branches have been opened—the PORT RICHMOND Branch on Saturday, March 18th, and the MOTT HAVEN Branch on Friday, March 30th.

At the opening of the PORT RICHMOND Branch (the second of the circulation branches to be opened directly by the Library, and the first so opened in the Borough of Richmond), the Hon. Charles V. Fornes, President of the Board of Aldermen, presided as the designated representative of the Mayor of the City. An address on behalf of the Trustees of the Library was made by Charles Howland Russell, Esq., and short addresses were also made by Hon. George Cromwell, President of the Borough of Richmond; by Dr. J. S. Billings, Director of the New York Public Library, and by Mr. A. E. Bostwick, Chief of the Circulation Department. Music was furnished by the Glee Club of Public School No. 20, Port Richmond, and by the Juvenile Mandolin Orchestra. This building is the eighth of those erected by the Carnegie fund to be opened as a branch of the New York Public Library, and the second in the Borough of Richmond. It has on its shelves about 5,000 volumes.

The MOTT HAVEN Branch, at the corner of Alexander Avenue and 140th Street, was opened on Friday, March 30th. President Fornes presided and accepted the building on behalf of the City, and Stephen H. Olin, Esq., representing the Trustees of the New York Public Library, Alderman John H. Dougherty, and Dr. J. S. Billings also made addresses. Music was furnished by the Girl's Glee Club of Public School No. 27. The Mott Haven Branch is the ninth to be opened of those erected from the Carnegie fund and the first to be opened in the Bronx. It has on its shelves at the time of opening about 9,000 volumes.

At the Circulation branches the picture bulletins and temporary collections of books on special shelves were as follows:

CHATHAM SQUARE, Spring, Hans C. Andersen, Public schools of New York; EAST BROADWAY, Famous men and women born in March, John Fiske, Washington Irving, Richard Wagner, Jules Verne, Theodore Roosevelt, Japan, India, Stories of the red men, New York in fiction, Hans C. Andersen, Birds, Nests, Fishes, Spring flowers; ELDRIDGE STREET, States admitted to the Union in March, Michael Angelo, Raphael; BOND STREET, New books, Electricity, Magnetism, Violin and its makers, Life in the navy, Nature, Hans C. Andersen; OTTENDORFER, Discoveries and explorers, Books of interest to women, Books of interest to men, Shakespeare, Composers, Music, Jules Verne; TOMPKINS SQUARE, Theodore Roosevelt, Sea tales, Spring, Tree planting, Lew Wallace; EPIPHANY, English and American authors; JACKSON SQUARE, Mexico, Photography, New books; MUHLBERG, Spring, Benjamin Franklin, Mexico, Alexander Hamilton, Martinique and Mt. Peleé, Patagonia, China, Japan and Russia, Manners and customs of the Hindus, The Philippines; 34TH STREET, Tales of the sea, New books; BRUCE, Domestic economy, Manhattan, Standard books, Home pets, Wild animals; SACRED HEART, Longfellow; 59TH STREET, Spring, Sir Edwin Henry Landseer; 67TH STREET, Natural Science, Eastern geography, New books, Theodore Roosevelt; RIVERSIDE, New books, Railroad stories, Fairy tales, Music, Nature, Caricatures of Max Beerbohm; WEBSTER, Music, Questions of the day; YORKVILLE, New books, Nature Study, Domestic economy, Eastern geography, School stories, Hans C. At the LENOX Branch the exhibition of etchings by Félix Bracquemond was continued until March 15th. On the 17th was opened an exhibition of about one hundred British mezzotints lent by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, belonging in the main to the second half of the eighteenth century, with a few of later date. On the 20th was begun an exhibition of manuscripts, portraits, prints, etc., connected with the French Revolution, consisting of 503 pieces, the property of a private collector. A printed catalogue of the collection (101 pages) is on sale at both of the Reference branches, at the price of 25 cents.

At the ASTOR branch the exhibition of plates relating to anniversaries of men and events was continued.

At the TOMPKINS SQUARE branch plates from Audsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan" were continued on exhibition, as were "Racinet's costume plates" (to the XVI. century) at 125TH STREET, Hollyer's etched views of New York at 67TH STREET, plates from the Wilkie Gallery at CHATHAM SQUARE, and Racinet's costume plates, Section 2 (after the XVI. century) at YORKVILLE.

MAJOR-GENERAL JOHN ELLIS WOOL TO W. L. STONE ON THE BATTLE OF QUEENSTOWN HEIGHTS IN OCTOBER, 1812.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

TROY— N. Y.

13th SEPTEMBER 1838.

MY DEAR SIR,

My attention has been recently directed to your interesting history of Joseph Brant. Allow me to request that you will send me by mail two copies with a bill of the same. I will transmit the amount by return mail.

Should you publish another edition* I would be much gratified if you would previously inform me of your intentions in order that some errors relating to the affair of Queenstown may be corrected. In page 505 Vol. 2^d it is stated that only two companies Captains Armstrong and Malcom had landed before Colonel Van Rensselaer and his party. This is incorrect—it should be three companies—viz Captains Wool, Malcom and Armstrong. It is also incorrect that they crossed the Niagara River undiscovered. The guard stationed on the Bank discovered us and fired into our boats before we reached the shore, but fled on our landing. As soon as we left the boats we ascended the bank and formed line fronting the heights. Being the senior officer in the absence of Lt. Col. Chrystie I took command of the detachment. At this moment Judge Advocate Lush arrived and informed me of the landing of Colonel Van Rensselaer and his party, with orders from the Colonel to “prepare for storming Queenstown Heights.” I informed him we were ready. In a few moments he returned with an order to march. We proceeded a few rods when I received an order to halt. This was at the foot or base of the heights—our right extending towards the Village of Queenstown. Whilst thus waiting further orders the detachment was attacked on its right by a party of British from the Village of Queenstown. Without waiting for orders from Colonel Van Rensselaer the detachment was immediately brought to bear on the enemy. A short but severe contest ensued. The enemy was repulsed, but not without the loss of six officers killed and wounded out of 11 or 12 present, besides a large proportion of non-commissioned officers and privates, all of the 13th U. S. Infantry. Of the officers, Lieut Valleau and Ensign Morris were killed, and Captains Wool, Malcom and Armstrong and Lieut Lent wounded. Shortly after the enemy had retreated Ju[d]ge Advocate Lush came and informed me that Colonel Van Rensselaer was mortally wounded, with orders from the Colonel to retire with the troops to the shore. As soon as it was light I repaired to Colonel Van Rensselaer and asked him what could be done? He replied he did not know. I remarked that some thing must be done soon or we would all be taken prisoners. His reply was that he knew of nothing unless we could take Queenstown heights. Although wounded, a musket ball having passed through both my thighs, I offered to undertake the enterprise. It was no sooner communicated to such of the officers of the 13th able to march, consisting of, besides myself, Captain Ogilvie, Lieutenants Hugunin, Kearney, Car, Reab, and Sammons, than they rallied their troops, and with a small detachment of Artillery commanded by Lieutenants Gansevoort & Randolp[h] agreeably to the directions of Colonel Van Rensselaer, ascended the heights and captured the battery. Such is a plain but correct statement of the part performed by the 13th U. S. Infantry early on the morning of the 13th October 1812, and previous to the attack and defeat of General Brock. Of the latter I may hereafter give you some details.

This statement I assure you is made with no envious feelings towards Colonel Van Rensselaer. He has bled freely in the field of battle, and I would not, if it can be avoided with honor to myself, add another to the many wounds he has received in fighting the battles of his Country. He should however recollect that a commandant never loses reputation by doing justice to those who may have served with him in the field of battle. He has published a history* of the affair of Queenstown in which he has failed to do justice to those who accompanied him on that memorable morning. He claims credit for conduct that belongs to another, and which as a brave and a gallant soldier he should never have appropriated to himself. He would do no injustice to himself if he should contradict the statement that he led the 13th up the bank and routed the enemy at the point of the bayonet, when Ensign Morris was killed and Captains Armstrong Malcom and Wool were wounded. When Ensign Morris was killed & Armstrong, Malcom & Wool were wounded, those officers with the 13th Infantry had not only ascended the bank, but were on their way to "storm Queenstown Heights," when as I have before stated were halted, and whilst thus waiting for further orders was attacked by a party of the enemy from the Village of Queenstown who were repulsed without orders from or interference of Colonel Van Rensselaer. Nor would his conduct have appeared less brave or brilliant if he had stated the fact that Captain Wool although wounded volunteered to undertake the capture of the heights. It will be perceived on examination of my letter to Colonel Van Rensselaer that I commenced it at the moment I left him to ascend the heights, leaving it for him to describe what had occurred before, with full confidence that he would do justice to those who had accompanied him on the morning when so many gallant soldiers fell to rise no more. Would it have been too much to have named the dead or even those who volunteered, captured the heights and defeated General Brock. A monument has been erected to mark the spot where a hero fell leading his troops to battle, but those who fought and won the victory and defeated the hero, was not even mentioned in the official despatch which announced the result.

For the flattering manner in which you have been pleased to represent me in your history, and the repeated defence of my character against the vile attacks of those who call themselves patriots, I offer you the most grateful acknowledgements, with the assurance that there is not the slightest foundation for the infamous charges brought against me. I am exposed it would seem to a triangular warfare.

* His Narrative of the Affair at Queenstown, 1812. (New York, 1836. 12°.)

The Whig presses on the Frontier have charged me with not only oppressing the patriots but of violating the laws in arresting them and seizing their arms and ammunition. The Montreal Herald and ultra tory paper will not be convinced that either the administration or the officers of the Army were sincere in their exertions to preserve the peace and neutral obligations of the Country. The administration papers of Vermont charge me with having transcended the orders of the government, and of oppressing the patriots beyond the wishes and intentions of the administration—see the Burlington Sentinel of the 3^d September containing the correspondence of Sir John Colborne and myself, with an editorial article against myself, Governor Jenison, and Charles Adams Esq^r, not one word of which is true, except that I was invited to partake of an entertainment at Burlington.

With this hasty scrawl believe me to be very truly your obliged friend &c.

JOHN E. WOOL

COLONEL STONE.

PIRACY IN THE GULF OF MEXICO, 1823.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

U. S. SCH GRAMPUS, THOMPSON Isd

JULY 3^d 1823

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, that this vessel sailed from the Balise, on the 24th April, with a convoy for Tabasco, where she arrived on the 1st May—sailed thence again on the 6th with a convoy towards Vera Cruz parted with the convoy on the 9th, and arrived at Campeachy on the 13th, where I received information, of several piracies committed upon the merchant vessels of the U. S; and that the coast of Yucatan, from Cape Catouche, to Lagoona was then infested by several gangs of pirates, who had been guilty of every atrocity imaginable: finding there were a very considerable number of Merchantships at the several ports upon that coast unprotected, and others arriving almost daily, I continued thereabouts until the 25th June scouring the coast, up and down, and occasionally, when any information was had, which offered the least chance of detecting those villians, the boats were employed, and sometimes were sent along the coast 20, and 30 leagues from the vessel: on the 22^d May I chased a schooner on shore, to windward of Siral which I have no doubt was a pirate, from his appearance and conduct: as it was in the night, and upon a part of the coast where I was not sufficiently acquainted, and blowing fresh upon the shore, I had not an opportunity of compleating his distruction: On the 11 June, I seized a suspicious vessel in the harbour of Campeachy, and resigned her to the authorities there upon that account. This last vessel had just come from New Malaga, or Virgia de Chiguila, a little to the westward of Cape Catouche, where the pirates have a very considerable establishment and came down Campeachy for purpose of procuring stores for a vessel then preparing for a cruise. Two seamen who had been held as prisoners at N. Malaga, informed me that this gang were sometimes a hundred and upwards in number, that they held possession of a small fort having two twenty four pounders; and that an officer named Molla, who had been placed there by the Government had joined them, this was corroborated by the authorities at Campeachy—who requested me to land and destroy the place. The pirates issue from their post in barges, small vessels, and in canoes; hover along the shores, enter the harbour murder and destroy almost all that fall in their power: on the 2nd June the American Sch^r. Shibbolet, Capt Perry, of N. Y. being then ready for sea, was boarded by a canoe having fourteen of these villians on board; the watch was instantly murdered eight others of the crew, were put in the forecabin, the hatch spiked down, a ton or more of Logwood put over it: the head sails set—with the wind off shore—and fire put to the vessel in the cabin—by the most extraordinary exertions, these now broke out, in time to save their lives. I arrived while the vessel was burning down. The same canoe then proceeded to windward and two days afterwards, took the Sch^r. Augustus & John off Sisal—and burnt her, having turned the crew adrift in a small boat—with every probability of their perishing. The people of the country were much exasperated, and turned out to hunt them from their shores—a party of Dragoons having met them, a skirmish insured, wherein the Captain of Dragoons, and several of his men were killed, and the pirates taking to their boats escaped—one of the seamen, I mentioned, as having been amongst them stated that he belonged to an English Sch. from N. Providence called the Flyer, that the crew with the exception of himself were instantly butchered—he was detained by them about two Mo[nths] during which time they had captured nine vessels, some of which were brought in, but the principal part destroyed, and in some instances he was certain that the whole crews were murdered—when he left the place (about twenty days since) they had a Guinaman with two hundred slaves and a large quantity of Ivory two small schooners, Americans, and an English cutter [hiatus in ms.] informed me that pirates had a direct and uninterrupted intercourse with Havanna, by means of small coasting vessels that ran regularly to the ports on the coast, and always touched at N. Malaga—frequently some of them would go up to the Havanna, and others of the gang came down—That this infernal horde of villians have established themselves at N. Malaga I have no doubt, and from the information given me by men of the first respectability at Campeachy, Sital, and other places on that coast, I believe the pirates have been guilty of all the acts herein stated.

I have the Honor to be

Very Respectfully

Your Mo. Ob. Ser.

The ground on which the building stands is the gift of Dr. James Douglas of Spuyten Duyvil.

JOHN CAMPBELL ON HUME'S VIEWS OF QUEENS ELIZABETH
AND MARY, 1761.

Printed from the original manuscript in the Lenox Collection in the New York Public Library.

LONDON, MAY 15. 1761.

DEAR S^R

I at length perform my promise and obey your Commands, in sending back to you M^r. Humes letter. I am ashamed it was not done sooner. I ought to have lost no time in asking pardon of M^r. Hume, for my stupid, & blameable negligence. I ought to have look^d in his Book before I mention^d anything as his opinion

I cannot help envying your happiness in conversing with such men as D^r. Robertson, and Mr. Hume. If I lived within reach of the latter I believe we should have many controversys, but flatter myself they would all be very amicable. However I will not deny that he has reason to be pleased—there's such a difference between us. Learning & Philosophy seem to me to make good progress in Scotland, and the Scots Clergy are surely very much improved, both in their writings, and preaching.

Neither to be persecuted or have the power of Persecution, is the happiest State any Church can be in; though few Church men, of any denomination have thought so. It is an honor to this Age and kingdom that there are now clergymen both in England & Scotland, who embrace and dare avow the Principles both of religious and civil Liberty. May their number increase, to the advantage of true Religion, in opposition to Superstition, Enthusiasm and all nonsense that is the Pride of Priests, & delight of Bigots. I congratulate you on the hopes of Peace, and presume you will not be displeas'd if a Scots Secretary is instrumental in procur- ing, what is so much wanted and most desirable. I am with my best wishes to y^r. Self and fair Secretary Dear S^r.

Y^r. very obliged & obedient

Humble Serv^t

J. CAMPBELL.

I most heartily ask pardon of M^r. Hume for my Polander as to his opinion of the alleged conspiracy of Darnley against Moray. I can find no escape for myself. M^r. Hume has been very kind in endeavoring to find one for me, I am much obliged to him for so candid & gentle a Remark, when I indeed deserved rebuke.

I cannot lay quite so much Stress as M^r. Hume does on the letters being produced with other Letters of Q. Marie's to the English Councill. He justly observes that Q. Elizabeth then pretended to be neutral, a Pretence very easily seen through. Mr. Hume thinks that any Counsellor who said the handwriting was not the same would have run no risque, except perhaps of a frown, I agree that perhaps at this time, a frown would have been all, but the frowns of Tyrants are always dangerous, often fatal. Norfolk had too much reason to think Q. Marie guilty independent of those letters

Supposing the letters forgery's I think so cunning a man as Moray, could not fear Elizabeth would convict him, for that once done, she could have made no further use of him, it was much too early for her to destroy him. That the original letters were destroyed, and that the Copies were cut out of the Books that are now in the Advocates Library is not to be wonder'd at. But that no Copies of the original french should now exist is somewhat strange, And I cannot see that Buchanans translating from the Scots, and not from the original french, is well accounted for, The difference between M^r Hume and me is not great, I am strongly inclined to believe the letters genuine, but think there's room for doubt even too [sic] an impartial Man, and no possibility of absolute conviction where there is any partiality to the other side of the Question. Indeed it is a Question of mere Curiosity, of very little Consequence, for allowing the Letters to be genuine, it is only an additional proof of the Queens Guilt which appears to me evident and indubitable without it. And Supposing them a Forgery it do's not Set Moray in a worse light than that in which he is shewn (as I think) by many unquestionable facts.

But such little controversy's are a sort of exercise to the Mind, and help to keep up Conversation, not disagreeably, with Men of M^r Hume's good sense, Knowledge and Candor

M^r Hume's Character is much above being affected by such a Writer as the Inquirer, the Dirt he throws at M^r Hume can never stick, but fly back in his own face

A LETTER OF INTRODUCTION FOR HENRY COLMAN FROM JOHN ADAMS TO JAMES MONROE IN 1816.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

QUINCY Dec 6th 1816

DEAR SIR

Although our good old Massachusetts, has encore quelques Prejudges, yet I find that all our liberal minded Men have a Strong desire to See our past present and future Presidents

They hesitate not to ask me for Introductions and I hesitate not to give them knowing as I do the past, present and future President to be as liberal Men as themselves

They all return so full of Gratitude for their kind Receptions so delighted with their Tours and so full of Praises of the Characters they have Seen, that I am encouraged to persevere

Indeed this my office of Introducer General is the only means left me of contributing one mite to the preservation of the Union of the Once Colonies now States, which has been the Object of my Life .

It is curious that I should introduce to you a Gentleman who carries to the President of the Senate twenty odd votes for your Rival Candidate. Yet so it is.

And you may depend upon it, The Reverend M^r Henry Colman, the Bearer of this Letter is one of our most ingenious literary Characters, our most amiable Men and our most tollerant Politicians as well as Theologians. No Bigot; No Fanatic; a phylosophic Divine; And this is no contradiction

I pray you to introduce this Gentleman to Madam Monroe. I have observed that our grave Philosophers and Divines return from Washington, Montecillo and Montpelier as full of Panegyrics on Madam Madison Madam Randolph and her Daughters as of their Husbands Fathers & Grandfathers

For my part I wish the Ladies would undertake to reconcile North and South, East and West. I verily believe they could do it, though the Gentlemen have not yet been able to accomplish it. It would not be so difficult, nor so wonderfull as the Peace of the Romans and Sabines which Fathers Brothers and Husbands could not effect

I am Sir, with Sincere Esteem Your humble Servant

JOHN ADAMS

JAMES MONROE. Secretary of State

The most important gifts of the month were: from the Association of Electric Lighting Engineers of New England, a copy of their Transactions, Vol. 1; from the Belgian Ministry of the Interior and of Public Instruction, a catalogue of its Library, Vol. 2; from Karl Bitter, a complete set of photographs of sculpture executed for the St. Louis Exposition, together with original reports and other documents, also 11 photographs of his sculptural work; from Alfred Flinch, "Jens Baggesens Biographie udarbejdet fornemmeligen efter hans egne Haandskrifter . . . ved August Baggesen," Kjöbenhavn, 1843-1856, 4 volumes; from the German Consul General at New York, German and English editions of the "Official catalogue, exhibition of the German Empire, International Exposition, St. Louis, 1904"; from Frederick H. Gillett, a copy of "Patriotic Studies, including extracts from bills, acts and documents of the U. S. Congress, 1888-1905"; from the Rev. Kenneth S. Guthrie, 37 volumes and 31 pamphlets; from Herman Hollerith, the official report of the latest Russian census; from Charles H. Knox, 2 volumes and 8 pamphlets, memorial biographies; from the Königlische Bayerische Akademie der Wissenschaften, a copy of the "Plan eines Corpus der Griechischen Urkunden des Mittelalters und der neueren Zeit," München, 1903; from the Massachusetts Executive Secretary, 1 volume and 1 pamphlet relating to the dedications of the statues of Major-General Joseph Hooker and Major-General William Francis Bartlett; from Frank D. Millet, 20 unmounted photographs of his paintings; from the Chamber of Commerce of the Orange River Colony, their 19th and 20th annual reports; from the Bureaus of Education, Forestry, Coast Guard, and Transportation, and Board of Health of the Philippine Islands, 5 volumes and 21 pamphlets; from The Players, 18 volumes and 32 pamphlets, current periodicals; from the Société d'économie politique, 5 volumes and 9 pamphlets, the Bulletin and Annuaire of the Society; from the Schweizerische Bundesgerichtskanzlei, a copy of the Catalogue of its Library.

At the LENOX Branch the exhibition of Russian and Japanese colored caricatures and prints dealing with the present war was continued, and on July 1st was opened an exhibition of portraits, manuscripts, facsimiles, illustrations, books and other material relating to the career of John Paul Jones, including a medal, loans from James and J. S. Barnes, and from Grenville Kambe and R. Fridenberg.

At the ASTOR Branch the exhibition relating to Schiller was continued.

The exhibition of plates from Audsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan" at the RIVINGTON STREET Branch, of plates from the Wilkie Gallery at TOMPKINS SQUARE, of reproductions of paintings by modern masters at CHATHAM SQUARE, were all continued, as were the exhibitions at YORKVILLE, 67TH STREET, RIVERSIDE, and MOTT HAVEN.

At the TREMONT Branch, on July 26th, was opened an exhibit of Racinet's Costume (to the 16th Century), and at the 135TH STREET Branch, on July 14th, reproductions of paintings by old masters.

Picture bulletins and temporary collections of books on special shelves at the circulation branches were as follows: CHATHAM SQUARE, Summer; EAST BROADWAY, Birthdays of famous men and women in July; OTTENDORFER, World of Children, Playtime stories, College sports; BRUCE, Railroad stories; RIVERSIDE, Vacation books, Sports; ST. AGNES, Elsie books, Baedeker guide books, Short stories; AMSTERDAM AVENUE, The Japanese, The Indians; HARLEM, Out-of-door books; 125TH STREET, Patriotism; 135TH STREET, Indians of North America, Nathan Hale, Hans Christian Andersen; TREMONT, Adventures on land and sea, Indians, School stories for girls, School stories for boys.

In addition there were bulletins on John Paul Jones at eleven branches, on John Hay at seven branches, on new books at five branches, and on Independence Day at two branches.

Exhibits were as follows: At TREMONT Branch, Plates of costumes, and Cabinets of birds, stones, mollusks, and star-fishes; at TOMPKINS SQUARE, Hiawatha photographs, and Progressive proof color prints; at BLOOMINGDALE, American flag, Plates of British and foreign orders of chivalry and crosses of honour.

During the month two new Circulation Branches have been opened, one at 103 West 135th Street, and one at 1866 Washington Avenue, corner of 176th Street. The opening exercises of the 135TH STREET Branch were held on Friday, July 14th, 1905, at 3 P. M. Hon. Alfred J. Talley, Civil Service Commissioner, presided as the Mayor's representative, and received the library on behalf of the City from the Trustees of the New York Public Library, who were represented by Francis C. Huntington, Esq., member of the Committee on Circulation. Mr. Arthur E. Bostwick, Chief of the Circulation Department, also spoke. Music was furnished by the band of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum. This Branch constitutes the thirty-second branch of the Circulation Department, and the twelfth of the branches erected from the Carnegie fund. It opens with 10,000 volumes on its shelves.

The opening exercises of the TREMONT Branch, 1866 Washington Avenue, corner of 176th Street, took place on Saturday, July 22nd, 1905, at 3 P. M. This library is the thirty-third branch of the Circulation Department, and is the sixth to be opened directly by the New York Public Library—the third in the borough of the Bronx. It is the thirteenth chronologically of the Carnegie buildings. The corner-stone was laid on January 21st, 1904. The presiding officer at the opening was Hon. William Harman Black, Commissioner of Accounts, who represented the Mayor. The building was turned over to the City on behalf of the library by Mr. Arthur E. Bostwick, Chief of the Circulation Department, and was accepted on behalf of the city by Mr. Black, who at once returned it to the library for administration. An address was also made by the Rev. F. B. Makepeace, President of the Board of Trustees of the Bronx Free Library. Music (violin and piano) was furnished through the courtesy of friends of the library.

The new branch has on its shelves 10,000 volumes, receiving from the Bronx Free Library such of its books as were purchased with State money, some 350 in number. The Trustees of the Bronx Free Library retain their organization at the request of the Committee on Circulation of the New York Public Library, to act as an advisory committee.

LIST OF WORKS IN THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY RELATING TO BRIDGES AND VIADUCTS.

Magazine articles noted here include only a few of the more important ones printed in recent years; no attempt has been made to include all. Reference should be made for a further selection of this material to technical indexes, such as the Engineering News Index. The indexes to the reports of the United States Board of Engineers and to the papers or reports of similar foreign national boards will furnish much material of value.

ANDREW JACKSON TO JAMES MONROE ON THE PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGE OF 1817.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

(Private)

NASHVILLE DEC^{BR} 20^H 1817

DEAR SIR

I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of the 2nd instant with your message to Congress enclosed for which accept my thanks.

The prosperous state of our Country & particularly our finance, so near the close of an expensive War, must be a source of great gratification to every true American and profiting from experience will enable the Executive government, with the aid of Congress to place the whole country in a state of defence, which will command Justice and respect from all Nations & thereby perpetuate the blessings of peace.

I have read with great attention your letter. The plan proposed fully meets my approbation, for I see in it that magnanimity of conduct only to be met with in great & good minds—and also a System that will produce subordination & harmony without which an army cannot be beneficial or effective. Whenever an officer is responsible for the defence of a country or place, his means never ought to be taken from him or directed without his knowledge.

I had determined to retire from Service, the moment I could with propriety & honor but I have determined since the receipt of your letter not to resign until I can have the pleasure of seeing you & until you make the Southern tower you contemplated next spring & in which I intend doing myself the pleasure of accompanying you.

It is my wish to retire from publick life, for I am advancing to that age which makes retirement desirable, but as long as I can be really serviceable to my country and there remains any prospect of my services being wanted I will not retire more particularly as it is your wish I should not

I am Sir with great respect & sincere friendship

Yr. mo. ob. Serv

ANDREW JACKSON

JAMES MONROE

President of the U. States

[Endorsed by Monroe:] Dec^r 20, 1817. Gen^l. Jackson. He highly approves the plan w^h. I propose for settling the aff^r with Dep^t of war. Magnanimity.

Hesing of Chicago, and the Very Rev. Joseph Rainer of St. Francis, Wis.

At the LENOX branch the exhibition of Russo-Japanese war pictures was continued until September 27th. On September 29th was opened an exhibition of works by Adolf von Menzel, who died last February, comprising original lithographs and etchings, book illustrations, reproductions of paintings and drawings, portraits of Menzel, and books and articles dealing with him and with his art. The exhibit offers an adequate view of Menzel's remarkable power as a draughtsman, as also of his rich inventiveness, imagination, and insight. The John Paul Jones exhibit has remained on view in the lower hall.

At the ASTOR branch the Schiller exhibit gave place on September 8th to one illustrating ornamental metal work and general decorative designing, the plates being taken from "Moderne Ziermotive für Kunst und Gewerbe" and from Brechemacher's "Moderne Kunstschmiedearbeiten."

Picture bulletins and temporary collections of books on special shelves at the circulation branches were as follows:

CHATHAM SQUARE, Scottish scenery, Heroines of fiction; EAST BROADWAY, United States Government, United States politics, United States presidents, Electricity; RIVINGTON STREET, China, Music; BOND STREET, Landmarks of New York; OTTENDORFER, Labor day, Germany, Books about nature; TOMPKINS SQUARE, Autumn; JACKSON SQUARE, California, Benjamin Franklin; MUHLENBERG, Hezekiah Butterworth; GEORGE BRUCE, Sea tales, Old time tales, Peace; 67TH STREET, Hans Christian Andersen, Diagram of a battleship; RIVERSIDE, Max Beer-bohm's caricatures; ST. AGNES, Cook-books; 96TH STREET, Canterbury pilgrimages; BLOOMINGDALE, Boarding school, Birds, Europe, Bonhomme Richard, Discovery of gold in California, William the Conqueror, Gunpowder plot, Religion.

In addition there were bulletins on new books at six branches, on Japan at five branches, of school stories at four branches, on Mary Mapes Dodge at four branches, on George Macdonald at three branches, and on North American Indians at three branches.

The thirty-fourth circulation branch of the Library was opened at 4 P. M. on Friday, September 22d, at 112 East 96th Street. This branch, the fourteenth of those erected from the Carnegie fund, is the seventh to be opened directly by the Library, the other seven Carnegie buildings affording new homes for already existing branches. Hon. William Harman Black, Commissioner of Accounts, presided as the designated representative of the Mayor and made the address on behalf of the City. The Trustees were represented by Charles Howland Russell, Esq., Secretary of the Board. The branch opened with 10,000 volumes on its shelves.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR

FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1905.

JULY 1, 1905.

Hon. JOHN BIGELOW,

President New York Public Library.

SIR:

I have the honor to submit the following report of the work of this Library for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1905.

Since my last report the Board of Trustees has lost by death one of its members, Samuel Putnam Avery, who died at his home in this city on Thursday, August 11th, 1904. Mr. Avery had been elected a trustee of the LENOX LIBRARY in 1894, and he was one of the twenty-one chosen for the new Board at the time of consolidation in 1895. The gift of his choice collection of prints to the newly established Print Department in 1900 was but a single instance of his warm interest in the Library, an interest that continued quite to the time of his death and manifested itself not only by numerous gifts of books and prints, but also by unceasing vigilance for the best interests of the Library. He was succeeded as trustee by Mr. Cleveland H. Dodge, elected at the meeting held January 11, 1905.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

The current activity of the Library is shown by the figures in the following summary:

In the reference branches, readers and visitors numbered 200,238; 159,695 desk applicants consulted 615,454 volumes (corresponding figures for 1903-4 being 128,872 desk applicants and 524,097 volumes). 31,347 volumes and 78,008 pamphlets were received; 28,047 volumes and 16,211 pamphlets were accessioned, making the total number available for readers 657,546 volumes and 256,548 pamphlets, which with the 476,597 volumes in the Circulation Department give a total of 1,390,691 pieces in the whole library. The Print Department now contains 55,851 prints; there has been little increase in the music, map or manuscript departments. There were catalogued 34,540 volumes and 36,799 pamphlets, for which 190,785 cards were written or manifolded; the public catalogues in the ASTOR and LENOX reading rooms contain now 1,272,930 cards; 1,566 periodicals are indexed number by number, for which 18,590 cards or printers' slips were written.

Periodicals currently received amount to 5,458; readers of periodicals at the ASTOR branch 28,433, and these readers called for 211,055 single numbers or pieces.

In the circulation department the number of branches has increased from 22 to 31, volumes in the department from 384,399 to 476,597, circulation for home use from 3,291,374 to 3,691,500. Eight Carnegie branches have been opened, three are ready for opening within the next few months, two new sites have been secured; making a total of 24 sites available for or occupied by Carnegie branches.

NEW BUILDING.

Better progress has been made on the new building at 42nd Street and 5th Avenue during the year last past than in any preceding year; the severe winter allowed little work to be done between autumn and spring, but during the working period there was no serious interruption by strikes, and the amount of material delivered for the building was larger than ever before for a similar period. The fireproofing is as far forward as the erection of the steel work permits, being about two-thirds of the way towards completion. The masonry work is about one-half done, the fireproofing and the marble work over one-half done.

The cement foundation in the stack room is completed and ready for the stacks. Work on the stacks has progressed rapidly at the shops and practically all of the heavy basement and first floor work is ready to deliver at the building; setting of this material is to be started on July 15. Of the material for the stack framing above the first floor about one-third is now being worked at the factory. There seems no reason to anticipate delay in the progress of this work according to the contract provisions, which call for completion of the first section within six calendar months after beginning work at the building.

Material for the heating and ventilating apparatus is being collected by the contractor. Specifications and plans for plumbing are now practically in condition to complete and prepare for estimate. Scale drawings for the interior finish, with the exception of the main reading room on the third floor, are well forward.

READERS' DEPARTMENT.

During the year the number of readers and visitors that entered the two reference buildings was 200,238, ASTOR having received 142,849 and LENOX 57,389. This is an increase of 16,016 readers and visitors over 1903-4, the increase being 15,965 at the ASTOR Branch and 51 at LENOX. The daily average of readers and visitors was 645, or 460 at ASTOR and 185 at LENOX.

The largest number in any one month was 20,460 (14,139 at ASTOR, 6,321 at LENOX) in March; the smallest was 11,883 (8,485 at ASTOR, 3,398 at LENOX in July). The largest number in any one day was 740 at ASTOR on February 11, 1905, and 414 at LENOX on March 11, 1905. The smallest number in any one day was 146 at ASTOR on May 30, 1905, and 30 at LENOX on January 25, 1905.

The total number of desk applicants (that is, readers filling out slips at the delivery desks, exclusive of those using books on the open reference shelves) was 159,695 for the two reference buildings, an increase of 30,823, or 24 — per cent. over 1903-4. The largest number in any one month was 15,953 (14,524 at ASTOR, 1,429 at LENOX) in March, the largest figures shown on the library records; the smallest number was 9,516 (8,562 at ASTOR, 954 at LENOX) in July.

The total number of volumes and periodicals issued to desk applicants in the two buildings (not including the use made of works on the open reference shelves) was 615,454, an increase of 91,357, or 17 + per cent. over that of the preceding year. The average number of volumes per reader was 3.8.

Of the 542,210 volumes called for at ASTOR, the largest number, 83,997, or 15 + per cent., belonged to American and English literature; 60,788, or 13 per cent., to other literatures; 56,905, or 10 per cent., to science; 56,338, or 10 per cent., to law, economics, sociology, etc.; 56,059, or 10 per cent., to foreign history; 46,481, or 8 per cent., to applied science; 40,884, or 7.5 per cent., to American history. The largest number of volumes consulted was on February 28, 1905, when 2,929 volumes were given to 691 readers, an average of 4.2 per reader; the smallest number was on September 5, 1904 (Labor Day), when 656 volumes were given to 180 readers, an average of 3.6 volumes per reader.

Of the 73,244 volumes called for at LENOX, 45,107, or 62 per cent. belonged to American genealogy and local history, 5,418, or 7.3 per cent., to American history, and 4,252, or 5.8 per cent., to music. The largest number of volumes consulted was on March 11, 1905, when 408 volumes were given to 97 readers, an average of 4.2 per reader; the smallest number was on January 25, 1905, when 14 volumes were given to 3 readers, an average of 4.6 volumes per reader.

Table I appended shows in detail by months the statistics of readers and the character of books called for at the ASTOR and LENOX buildings.

SHELF DEPARTMENT.

During the fiscal year the number of volumes received, entered on the accession catalogue, and placed on the shelves, was 28,047, of which 13,709 were purchases or duplicate exchanges, and 14,338 were gifts. The number of pamphlets accessioned during the same period was 16,211, of which 2,206 were purchases or duplicate exchanges, and 14,005 gifts.

The number of volumes actually received during the year was 31,347, of which 9,892 were purchases, 18,829 were gifts, 48 by bulletin exchange, and 2,578 by duplicate exchange; the number of pamphlets actually received was 78,008, of which 8,172 were purchases, 48,051 were gifts, 90 by bulletin exchange, and 21,695 by duplicate exchange. During the year 39,684 pieces, duplicates, were sent out in exchange.

The total number of volumes on the shelves and available for use at the end of June, 1905, was 657,546, and of pamphlets 256,548. These, with the 476,597 volumes in the Circulation Department, give a total of 1,390,691 pieces available for readers.

15,650 volumes and 3,546 pamphlets were reclassified, the largest groups handled being: Encyclopædias, *AI-*AY; Russia, GL; Zoology and Biology, Q; and Philology, R.

There were bound for the Library 7,838 volumes, including 1,188 volumes repaired outside for the Library, and not including about 1,000 bound before importation. The Library bindery repaired 1,098 volumes and pamphlets, mounted 11 maps, and repaired 39 portfolios and 3 prints. 8,010 volumes were tied in manila paper, and 10,983 volumes were lettered and labelled; 885 pamphlets were stapled or sewed to hold stiff covers, and 575 volumes were repaired without sending to the binders. New shelving was added to the amount of 4,172 feet.

CATALOGUE DEPARTMENT.

During the year there were catalogued 34,540 volumes and 36,799 pamphlets, for which purpose were written 105,552 cards; in addition 41,723 slips were written for, and 85,223 cards received from the copying machine, making a total of 190,785 cards for adding to the various catalogues. At the end of June, 1905, the index catalogue at the ASTOR Branch contained 949,110 cards. In addition the separate catalogues contain cards as follows: General (official), 431,520; documents, 114,759; serials, 52,000; reports, 25,440; railroads, 6,020; Hebrew, 49,300; Oriental, 18,640; Russian, 12,555; making a total of 1,659,344.

The card catalogues in the two reading rooms at the LENOX Building contain 323,820 cards (217,840 in the general reading room, 60,580 in the music catalogue, and 45,400 in the catalogue of genealogies and local histories). In addition to the above, the catalogue of manuscripts contains 29,200 cards; of maps, 22,785 cards; of Americana, 36,500 cards; of incunabula, 3,185 cards; of prints, 27,316; 12,720 cards in various other groups at LENOX bring the total up to 455,526.

There remain unsearched and uncatalogued in the ASTOR Building about 800 single volumes, 400 pamphlet volumes, and 40,000 pamphlets.

At the LENOX Building cataloguing activities were directed towards finishing the works on theology, bibliography, and the William Cullen Bryant collection; the indexing of back numbers of historical society collections and publications was continued. There remain to be catalogued here about 2,400 volumes and 500 pamphlets, besides the Bible collection.

Revision of the subject headings in the public index catalogue at the ASTOR Branch was continued, the following subjects having been taken up during the year: Animals (Domestic); United States, History, Civil War; Engineering; Machinery; Water Supply; Militia; Textiles; General Literature; Refrigeration and Cold Storage; Museums and Art Collections; Sewerage; Names; Copyright; Costume; Paper.

Periodicals indexed number 1,566 titles (1,476 at ASTOR, 90 at LENOX); in addition, 23 periodicals were indexed for the American Library Association co-operative work. These latter are indexed completely, the indexing of the 1,566 titles noted above being eclectic, and including only articles of first importance. The total number of cards written for the New York Public Library indexing was 18,590 (17,520 at ASTOR, 1,070 at LENOX); the total number of printers' slips written for the co-operative indexing was 809, two printed cards being received for each title; the total number of index cards added to the ASTOR catalogue was 14,457.

PERIODICAL DEPARTMENT.

The total number of readers of current periodicals in the Periodical Department at the ASTOR branch during the fiscal year was 28,433, being a daily average of 91. In addition to the journals contained on the open reference shelves 211,055 numbers of current periodicals were called for, being a daily average of 680. These separate numbers, when counted as volumes, amount to about 53,000, distributed as follows: General, 12,900; American history, 600; European history, 700; geography, 300; art, archæology, drama, music, etc., 5,500; English and American literature, 5,800; other literature, 3,000; science, 2,100; applied science, technology, etc., 15,200; economics and sociology, 5,300; orientalia, 200; religion and philosophy, 1,400.

The Library receives at this date 5,458 current periodicals, of which 3,786 are purchases, 1,419 are gifts, and 253 exchanges for the BULLETIN. 85 of this total are daily papers, 774 weeklies, 201 semi-monthlies, 1,518 monthlies, 188 bi-monthlies, 641 quarterlies, 82 semi-annuals, 697 annuals received by purchase, 1,091 of irregular periods of publication.

In addition to this 5,458, about 1,100 official serials issued by governments, etc., are sent through for filing in the Document Department.

In further addition should be noted 7,181 annual publications received by gift, and 405 in exchange for the BULLETIN.

The average number of separate numbers of periodicals (excluding all annuals and the 1,100 titles sent directly to the Document Department) received daily is 361, amounting to 112,016 in the course of the year.

In exchange for the BULLETIN the Library receives a total of 658 periodicals, an increase of 56 for the year; of these 279 are American annual publications, 126 are foreign annuals, and 253 American and foreign periodicals of greater frequency of publication than annually.

1,772 volumes of old periodicals were added during the year, completing important files.

A table (II) is appended giving fuller statistics of periodicals received.

DOCUMENT DEPARTMENT.

During the year there were received of public documents, 11,438 volumes, 13,696 pamphlets, and 34,207 numbers of serial publications (1,100 titles). 8,495 volumes and 7,710 pamphlets were catalogued, for which work were written 18,918 cards and 5,335 slips for the copying machine, these latter being multiplied to 19,944 cards.

No systematic additions were made during the year, the accretion being largely due to natural increase of legislative and department reports, and to promiscuous selection from old-book catalogues. The most noteworthy addition of the year was the volume of "Laws of Her Majesties Colony of New York," printed in this city by William Bradford in 1710. With this volume our file of the New York digests is complete, so far as the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are concerned; 1694, 1710, 1713, 1726, 1752, 1762, 1774, 1784, 1789, 1792 to 1797 (first to the third, fifth to the eleventh) are New York imprints, 1719 (fourth in the series) is the London reprint. Not unworthy of note are certain eighteenth century imprints secured at the sale of duplicates from the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in January; included in the lot were five folio volumes of Votes of the Pennsylvania House, printed by Franklin between 1731 and 1757, two separate provincial acts forbidding profane swearing and regulating Sabbath observance, and seventeen Federal financial and naval documents, folio and octavo, printed between 1798 and 1803.

Our file of European legislative proceedings was augmented by a set of the Bulgarian Sobranje from 1886 to 1893, of the proceedings of the Croatian Sabor from 1861 to 1904, and of the Bohemian Landtags-beschlüsse from 1567 to 1811. The proceedings of the principal European legislatures and of Great Britain are fairly complete. A supplement to these legislative proceedings are the official gazettes, of which the library receives 117 currently. Files of these papers are not offered as frequently as are those of the proceedings, because the number printed is much smaller, being, in some cases, as low as 100 copies.

A file of over 500 Spanish cedulas, ordenanzas, decretos, etc., belonging to the Tilden collection, has been catalogued during the year. These documents range in date from the first half of the seventeenth century to the first decade of the nineteenth century, some of them from presses of New Spain, Guatemala, and Peru.

An index, comprising some 4,500 cards has been made of the Italian Atti Parlamentari. The subjects indexed were confined to effective legislation on public economy, to foreign affairs, department and commission reports.

The index to the diplomatic papers of the United States from 1828 to 1861 has been completed and is ready for the press.

A systematic reading of second-hand catalogues for public documents has been begun. References to items found are embodied in the official document catalogue. Since this work was begun, in October, 1904, some 3,000 entries have been so added. In time these entries will contribute in making this catalogue a bibliography of public documents, and, in the meantime, they add greatly to an intelligent handling of the documents.

The application of serial numbers to the legislative documents of the American States has been begun, and such numbers have been placed on the documents of California, Iowa, District of Columbia, New Hampshire, and Wisconsin.

ORIENTAL DEPARTMENT.

The catalogue of the department now contains 18,640 cards. For current catalogue work were written 7,453 cards. Accessions amounted to 411 pieces by purchase and gift, and 733 by reclassification. The total in the department is now 8,944 pieces.

Among the accessions may be mentioned 87 grammars, dictionaries, and philological works treating of 36 different Oriental languages or dialects; 23 Persian historical and poetical works; 22 volumes on Muhammadan law, nearly all in Arabic; many other works in Arabic, including poetry, history, and works on the Koran. The "Merveilles biographiques et historiques; ou, Chroniques du Cheikh Abd el Rahman el Djabarti, traduites de l'arabe," le Caire, 1888-1896, 9 volumes, is probably the most important single work received.

In addition to routine work, nearly all of the Chinese and Japanese books in the Library have been reclassified, and the work of making a full subject catalogue for the department catalogue, commenced last year, has been continued. This catalogue is now complete for several subjects, including Arabic poetry, Muhammadan law, Egyptology, Assyriology, and all grammars and dictionaries of Oriental languages in the department. It contains cards for 135 different languages and dialects.

HEBREW DEPARTMENT.

The number of volumes and pamphlets on the shelves of the Hebrew Department is now about 14,190. The readers average about 33 per day, calling for about 75 volumes. Files of "Jewish Messenger," New York, 1857 to 1896, and "Israelietische Nieuwsbode," Amsterdam, 1875 to 1893, make important additions to the periodical collection.

The special catalogue contains about 49,300 cards.

SLAVONIC DEPARTMENT.

The additions to the Slavonic Department amounted to 700 volumes, bringing the total in the department to 7,256 volumes. The number of volumes catalogued and articles indexed was 887, of pamphlets catalogued 250, for which 1,439 cards and 391 slips for the schapirograph machine were written. The catalogue of the department now contains 12,555 cards. The number of readers averaged 808 per month, against 391 in 1903-4.

PRINT DEPARTMENT.

The number of prints accessioned during the year was 2,830, which, with 20 added to the Avery collection, brings the total number of separate prints in the department up to 55,851; unaccessioned material in the shape of duplicates, newspaper clippings, and other pieces of like nature numbers 53,014 pieces. The print room was visited by 1,355 persons for the purpose of consulting prints. The visitors to the picture galleries numbered 32,365, of whom 8,528 examined the prints in the exhibition cases. 22 volumes were sent to the general reading room for the use of readers. 2,198 cards and slips were written, and 291 cards schapirographed, making the total of all cards added 2,489, and giving a total of 27,316 in the card catalogue.

EXCHANGES.

During the year there were received by the Library on exchange account 2,578 volumes and 21,695 pamphlets, and there were sent out duplicates in exchange to the number of 2,739 volumes and 36,945 pamphlets. In exchange for the BULLETIN there were received 253 periodicals, 279 American and 126 foreign (total, 405) annual publications, and 48 separate volumes and 90 pamphlets.

THE BULLETIN.

Volume VIII of the BULLETIN, for 1904, contained 632 pages, an increase of 128 pages over the preceding volume. Of the check lists printed between July, 1904, and June, 1905, worthy of special note are the list of books, etc., by and relating to Nathaniel Hawthorne, prepared as an exhibition to commemorate the centenary of his birth (July); the conclusion of the list relating to naval history (July, August, September, November); a list of maps of the world exhibited in the LENOX branch on the occasion of the visit of members of the eighth international geographical congress, September 13-15, 1904 (September); works relating to the Shakers (November); a joint list of theological periodicals in the New York Public, Union Theological Seminary, and the General Theological Seminary libraries (January and February); a collation of the two series known as the American Diplomatic Correspondence (March); a list of works relating to Ireland (March, April, May, June). The December number contained the text of the minutes of the executive committee of the committee of safety of Mobile, in 1862-1863, printed from the original manuscript owned by the library.

EXHIBITIONS.

Exhibitions at the LENOX branch were as follows: Lithographs by Eugene Isabey, and wood engravings after Ludwig Richter and Moritz, Ritter von Schwind, and the wood engravings by Elbridge Kingsley, opened in April and May, 1904, were continued until the middle of August, when they gave way to a collection of maps of the world illustrating the progress of geographical knowledge from the earliest days to the end of the seventeenth century, this latter exhibition being made on the occasion of the visit of the members of the eighth international geographical congress, September 13-15. A list of the maps exhibited was printed in the BULLETIN for September, 1904, and a few copies of the list were run off separately. The map exhibit was succeeded on October 18 by a collection of broadsides, posters, caricatures, campaign periodicals, party text-books, songsters, medals, badges, envelopes, portraits, and other pictorial material arranged to illustrate methods used to arouse public interest and enthusiasm during political campaigns. This was continued until November 9th, and was replaced by a collection of etchings and drawings by Felix Bracquemond on November 14th, consisting of a selection of about 200 etchings and drawings from the Avery collection, two porcelain plates loaned by Mr. William Loring Andrews, and a porcelain plate, a bookbinding, two etchings, and two drawings loaned by Mr. Samuel P. Avery. On the lower floor were placed on exhibition on November 22 the etchings by the late Robert F. Blum recently given to the Library by his estate through Mrs. H. Haller and Mr. W. J. Baer; with them was shown Blum's etched portrait of himself in the Avery collection and a number of his sketch books, loaned by Mr. W. J. Baer. In January, 1905, a selection of etchings by the late R. Swain Gifford, and specimen wood blocks, half-tone plates, electrotypes, etc., given by the Century Company, were put on view. A second selection from the mezzotint engravings owned by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan was shown from March 17 to June 12, and from March 20 to the end of May was shown a loan exhibition of manuscripts, portraits, prints, etc., 503 pieces in number, connected with the French Revolution, for which the exhibitor printed a special catalogue of 101 pages. To mark the centenary of the birth of Schiller, an exhibition of portraits, views, and other illustrative matter connected with his name was held during May. The British mezzotints gave place to a selection of Russian and Japanese colored lithographs relating to the present war in the East; with them were shown a few Japanese chromoxylographs illustrating the Japanese-Chinese war of 1894. Throughout the year have been made selections from the Charles Stewart Smith collection of Japanese prints at both reference branches.

At the ASTOR Branch plates from the Wilkie gallery and from "Der Moderne Styl" were shown from July to September. From October to March exhibitions were made of prints of interest in connection with current anniversaries, holidays, etc. A selection from S. Hollyer's etched views of New York City was placed in the cases in April, Japanese color prints relating to the present war in the East in May, and the exhibition of Schiller prints, etc., in June.

At the circulation branches the Print Department supplied plates from Audsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan" (July to November), the Wilkie Gallery (December to June 13), Modern Paintings (June 17), at CHATHAM SQUARE; New York City views (July to November), plates from Racinet's "Costume" (December to June), at 125TH STREET; Racinet's "Costume" (January to June), at YORKVILLE; Hollyer's etched views of New York (January to June), at 67TH STREET; photographic views of scenes in Luzon (April to June), at RIVERSIDE; and Audsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan" (June), at RIVINGTON STREET.

PURCHASES AND GIFTS.

Purchases of books have been confined, as in past years, to securing important current works in the classes to which the library is paying particular attention, namely, American history, economics and sociology, technology,

Semitica, periodical literature, and to adding as occasion offered older books belonging to these classes and not now on our shelves.

Of the trustees, the President, Mr. Avery, Mr. Cadwalader, Mr. Dodge, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Maitland, Judge O'Brien, Bishop Potter, Mr. Schuyler, and others. continued to show their interest by gifts of books and manuscripts from time to time.

The Library received by bequest from the late George Becks his important collection of prompt books, numbering 1,490 pieces. From the Secretary of Education of Chile we received 150 volumes relating to the country, all publications of recent date and of no little interest; from the National Board of Education of the Argentine Republic came an interesting collection of text-books used in the Argentine public schools. The Belgian Antarctic Commission sent in a set of its publications relating to that expedition, and M. Henryk Arctowski, one of the members of the party, sent 28 of his pamphlets. From Samuel Colman we received 35 of his etchings, from William Miller, 556 prints, wood engravings, etc.; from the Century Company, a set of 26 prints, plates, wood blocks, etc.; and from Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, 222 prints, posters, etc.

Mrs. Henry Draper continued her gifts of important works on folk songs, almanacks, and general literature; from Miss E. W. Palmer we received the manuscript journal of Benjamin Palmer, kept by him at the time of his capture on an American privateer during the war of 1812 and subsequent confinement in Dartmoor prison. Mr. Archer M. Huntington has continued to send his facsimile reprints of early Spanish works, and from Senator Redfield Proctor we received his facsimile of the "Records of Conventions in the New Hampshire Grants for the Independence of Vermont, 1776-1777," reproduced from the original manuscript recently transferred by the Library of Congress to the Vermont State Library.

Mr. George A. Lucas, of Paris, has continued his gifts to the Art Department, and especially to the Print Department, which already owes much to him for his direct additions to the Avery collection, as well as for the numerous marginal notes of interesting information penciled by him on prints throughout the collection.

The American Agriculturist, the British Museum, the Century Association, the Christian Herald, the Churchman, Cooper Union, the Evening Post, the French and Japanese Consuls, the Methodist Library, Municipal Journal, Publishers' Weekly, Raymond and Whitcomb, Scientific American, have contributed their gifts as in years past.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT.

At the end of the fourth year since the execution of the contract between the City and Mr. Andrew Carnegie for the erection of circulation branches, the City has acquired twenty-four sites in the three boroughs assigned to the New York Public Library, seventeen in Manhattan, three in The Bronx, and four in Richmond.

Table III appended hereto shows the present condition of the work, the details of acquisition, etc. In addition to the sites here noted the City has approved of eleven general localities in which additional sites are to be selected, eight of which are in Manhattan, two in The Bronx, and one in Richmond.

At this date the eleven following buildings have been completed and opened for circulation:

- YORKVILLE, 222-224 East 79th Street, opened December 13, 1902.
- CHATHAM SQUARE, 31-33 East Broadway, opened November 2, 1903.
- 224-226 East 125TH STREET, opened March 7, 1904.
- TOTTENVILLE, Amboy Road, opened November 26, 1904.
- TOMPKINS SQUARE, 331-333 East 10th Street, opened December 1, 1904.
- 328 East 67 TH STREET, opened January 20, 1905.
- RIVERSIDE, 190-192 Amsterdam Avenue, opened February 16, 1905.
- PORT RICHMOND, 12 Bennett Street, opened March 18, 1905.
- MOTT HAVEN, Alexander Avenue and 140th Street, opened March 31, 1905.
- 2933 KINGSBRIDGE AVENUE, opened May 19, 1905.
- 61-63 RIVINGTON STREET, opened June 10, 1905.

The three following buildings, each providing a new branch building, are completed and ready for opening within a few weeks:

- 103 West 135th Street.
- Washington Avenue and 176th Street.
- 112-114 East 96th Street.

Builders are at work on the six following buildings:

- 209-211 West 23d Street.
- 444-446 Amsterdam Avenue.
- 172 East 110th Street.
- 66-68 Le Roy Street.
- 1465-1467 Avenue A.
- 121-127 East 58th Street.

Plans are being drawn for the four following:

- 228-232 East 23d Street.
- 145th Street, near Amsterdam Avenue.
- Stuyvesant and Hyatt Streets, St. George.
- Canal and Brook Streets, Stapleton.

The year just past has been marked by the consolidation with the New York Public Library on January 1, 1905, of "The Cathedral Free Circulating Library," having a main library at 536 Amsterdam Avenue, and four branches, besides several stations operated through travelling libraries. These brought with them altogether 43,972 volumes. The main library and branches became branches of the New York Public Library, and the work of the travelling libraries was turned over to our own travelling library office. The staffs were taken over bodily into our own, and with a few changes necessary for uniformity the work has gone on without interruption.

The Department now (July 1) includes 31 branch libraries, an increase of 9 during the year. Of these, 19 occupy their own buildings (11 erected with the Carnegie fund), 8 are in rented quarters, and 4 have quarters rent-free, namely, the WEBSTER Branch, in the East Side Settlement, the SACRED HEART Branch, the EPIPHANY Branch, and the Library for the BLIND in the parish house at St. Agnes Chapel. For five of these twelve, Carnegie buildings are in course of erection.

Of the eight Carnegie branches opened during the year, four, the TOMPKINS SQUARE, SIXTY-SEVENTH STREET, RIVERSIDE, and RIVINGTON STREET Branches, are in the Borough of Manhattan; two, the MOTT HAVEN and KINGSBRIDGE Branches, in The Bronx; and two, the TOTTEVILLE and PORT RICHMOND Branches, in Richmond. Four are occupied by already existing branches—the TOTTEVILLE and RIVERSIDE by the branches so named, the TOMPKINS SQUARE by the former AVENUE C Branch, and the RIVINGTON STREET by the branch formerly in the University Settlement Building next door. The remaining four are newly organized branches, but the KINGSBRIDGE Branch has the books and good will of its predecessor, the Kingsbridge Free Library.

With these latter four branches a complete work of organization was necessary, including the appointment of a staff and the purchase and preparation of a stock of books. This work occupied three or four months previous to the opening of each library, and in each case the registration of borrowers was begun a week or ten days earlier than the formal opening. Opening exercises were held for each of the eight new buildings, consisting of the delivery of the building to the city by a representative of the Board of Trustees, and its acceptance by an officer designated for the purpose by the Mayor, who at once turned it over to the Library again for administration, according to the terms of the contract with the city. In addition, addresses were made in most cases by residents of the neighborhood or others specially interested, and by the Director or Chief of the Circulation Department, and music was furnished through the courtesy of local musical organizations, among which may be mentioned the Philharmonic Club of Tottenville, the Glee Club and Orchestra of the High School of Commerce (RIVERSIDE), the pupils of Public School No. 20 (PORT RICHMOND), No. 27 (MOTT HAVEN), No. 7 (KINGSBRIDGE), and the Music School Settlement (RIVINGTON STREET).

The representatives of the Trustees and of the City at the eight openings were as follows:

LIBRARY.	TRUSTEES.	CITY.
TOTTENVILLE	Hon. George L. Rives.	Hon. George Cromwell.
TOMPKINS SQUARE	Hon. John L. Cadwalader.	Hon. Samuel Greenbaum.
SIXTY-SEVENTH STREET	Hon. George L. Rives.	Dr. Thomas Darlington.
RIVERSIDE	Hon. John L. Cadwalader.	Hon. Alfred J. Talley.
PORT RICHMOND	Chas. Howland Russell, Esq.	Hon. Chas. V. Fornes.
MOTT HAVEN	Stephen H. Olin, Esq.	Hon. Chas. V. Fornes.
KINGSBRIDGE	Cleveland H. Dodge, Esq.	Dr. Thomas Darlington.
RIVINGTON STREET	Stephen H. Olin, Esq.	Hon. Alfred J. Talley.

Staffs have been wholly or partly organized, and books are being bought and prepared for three new libraries that will be opened in July and August or September, namely, the 135TH STREET Branch, 103 West 135th Street; the TREMONT Branch, 1866 Washington Avenue, and the 96TH STREET Branch, 112 East 96th Street.

A case that deserves special notice is that of the AGUILAR Branch, 172 East 110th Street, which has been in process of rebuilding during the past winter. The building operations necessitated tearing down the front wall, one side wall, and the roof, yet with interruptions of a few hours, or at most a few days, the circulation of books has been carried on steadily in the whole or part of the building, at considerable sacrifice on the part of the staff, especially in the bitter cold weather of January and February.

An interesting departure from library usage is the so-called "roof garden" or open-air reading room at the RIVINGTON STREET Branch. A space 40 feet square on the roof of the janitor's quarters has been railed off and provided with awnings, furniture, and electric lights. The main stairway has been carried up to provide proper access, and a special custodian has charge.

The results have been such as to warrant the construction of other reading rooms on the roofs of library buildings in crowded districts. These should be larger; the vestibule should be ample enough to hold magazines and papers under cover, and the electric book lift should be continued to the roof.

In each of the new Carnegie buildings, with the exception of the small ones located in outlying districts, there have been placed glazed exhibition cases on the wall of the general reading room and a large wing frame with wings that can be interchanged between standards at different buildings. These latter frames are kept filled with prints from the Print Department at the LENOX Branch and sent about from library to library, while the wall frames are used to show prints and illustrations in the possession of the Circulation Department. Among these exhibitions during the year past have been the following:

Plates from Audsley's "Ornamental Arts of Japan;" Racinet's "Costume Plates;" Hollyer's "Etchings of Old New York;" the "Wilkie Gallery;" "Literary Caricatures," by Max Beerbohm, and plates from Hopkinson Smith's "Venice of To-day."

An examination for admission to the training class was held in September, 1904, and tried by 56 persons, of whom 30 were admitted. Of these, 28 continued through the year and 13 passed, with an average of 75 per cent. or more, the examination admitting them to the eligible list for Class D. Eight others who passed higher than 50 per cent. became eligible to that class under the recent rule, owing to excellence in practical work and personal qualities. Of the remainder, five are available for Class E, and two, owing to illness, have not yet completed their course. Three of the class also passed the examination for Class C. These latter are all college women.

Besides class instruction, to which the Instructor and her assistant devoted a large part of their time, the members of the class did practical work in the branches, listened to lectures from 14 members of the New York Public Library staff and 8 from other libraries, and carefully inspected four libraries in other cities, besides many of our own branches.

The special collection of books for class instruction now numbers 556 volumes and pamphlets, of which 43 were added during the past year. The collection is open to any member of the library staff. Classes for advanced work with assistants in the circulation branches were held from November, 1904, till May, 1905. After January, the work was graded, and included literature, library economy, general information, and statistics. The results were evident in the examinations for promotions held in May.

Owing to the necessity for instructing an increased number of apprentices much of this advanced instruction must be omitted during the ensuing year.

During the year there has been prepared by the Instructor a syllabus of study with suggestive reading lists, which has been printed with the title "Memoranda on requirements for admission to the staff and advancement from grade to grade."

The record of the results in the examinations to determine eligibility for promotion, which were held for all grades on May 24th, 25th, and 26th is as follows:

CANDIDATES.	PLACED ON LIST.
B to A, 10.....	5
C to B, 34 (including 2 outsiders).....	16
D to C, 65 (including 1 outsider).....	20
E to D, 50 (including 26 apprentices and 4 substitutes)	30

The staff of the department now includes 302 persons, classified as follows:

Preparations have been made to occupy part of the new MUHLENBERG Branch building at 209 West 23d Street, with enlarged quarters for most of the administrative work of the Department, including that of the Training Class. It is expected that the new offices will be open about January 1, 1906, and will serve our purpose until the completion of the central library building.

The work of the regular cataloguers on the staff of the Department has been increased this year, as last, by additional work, made necessary by the consolidation of formerly independent libraries, including alterations in shelf lists, catalogues, and book numbers at these branches, and the inclusion of their entries in the union catalogue and shelf list at headquarters. In doing this extra work, the regular force, consisting of a head cataloguer and five assistants, was increased by four additional assistants for six months. The work of the year is shown in detail by the following statement:

Regular Work.

- 24,489 cards written for union catalogue.
- 40,855 books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
- 18,651 shelf list cards written for branches.
- 81,993 cards and slips filed.
 - 2,548 Library of Congress cards in union catalogue.
 - 3,923 Library of Congress cards sent to the ASTOR Branch.
 - 38,804 Library of Congress cards sent to circulating branches.
 - 237 books discarded.
- 23,632 reserve notices sent to branches.
- 2,115 cards written for MOTT HAVEN Branch.
 - 752 books accessioned for MOTT HAVEN Branch.
 - 539 books shelf listed for MOTT HAVEN Branch.
- 803 Library for the BLIND books entered in union catalogue.
- 149 cards written for TOMPKINS SQUARE Branch.
- 893 cards written for RIVINGTON STREET Branch.
- 879 cards written for RIVERSIDE Branch.
 - 210 books accessioned for RIVERSIDE Branch.
 - 97 numbers changed on HARLEM LIBRARY books.
 - 200 cards written for HARLEM LIBRARY.
- 36 days' time of one assistant spent comparing HARLEM LIBRARY accession book and shelf list.
 - 1 week's time of two assistants spent comparing branch periodical shelf lists with union shelf list and making new entries.
- 72 days' time of one assistant lent to general department.
- 80,985 cards written in branches.
 - 472 Russian book titles transliterated and translated.

Work of Temporary Assistants.

- 6,863 cards written for union catalogue.
 - 183 TOTTENVILLE books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
 - 172 TOTTENVILLE books shelf listed.
 - 848 TOTTENVILLE numbers changed on books.
 - 813 cards written for TOTTENVILLE Branch.
- 1,385 WEBSTER books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
- 1,377 WEBSTER books shelf listed.
 - 938 WEBSTER numbers changed on books.
- 179 AGUILAR books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
- 2,001 cards written for RIVINGTON STREET Branch.

- 2,166 HARLEM LIBRARY books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
- 2,709 HARLEM LIBRARY books shelf listed
- 1,884 HARLEM LIBRARY numbers changed on books.
- 3,853 HARLEM LIBRARY numbers changed on catalogue cards.
- 8,006 CATHEDRAL* books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
- 4,952 CATHEDRAL* books accessioned.
- 13,451 cards written for CATHEDRAL* Branches.
- 1,943 CATHEDRAL* books shelf listed.
- 3,483 CATHEDRAL* cards filed.
- 1,755 KINGSBRIDGE books entered in union catalogue and shelf list.
- 1,009 KINGSBRIDGE books shelf listed.
- 257 Helpers' books accessioned.

The stringency of rules has been somewhat relaxed during the year in two directions, resulting, it is believed, in making the Library of greater public use.

First, in relation to registration, it has been provided that cards without guaranty, and good until revoked for cause, shall be issued to the following classes of persons: (1) Card holders of three years' good standing; (2) persons introduced by Trustees, by members of the Circulation Committee, by the Director, or by the Chief of the Department; (3) teachers in the public schools; (4) persons preparing to become teachers, duly certified to be such. Such cards may also be issued to persons in whose cases guaranty appears unnecessary or inadvisable, when reported by the Librarian-in-Charge to the Chief of the Department.

Second, in regard to the number of books that may be held on one card, it is now provided that teachers engaged in special studies or doing literary work may take out any number of books necessary for such study, to be kept not longer than six months and renewed monthly; also that card holders may withdraw not more than eight books at one time to take out of the city for the summer.

The usefulness of the Department to the public has been greatly increased also by the extended operation of our system of inter-branch loans, by which the user of any branch has at his disposal the entire number of books in the thirty other branches. The system is under the charge of the head cataloguer and is operated where possible through our own express service, which now extends to twenty branches in the Borough of Manhattan. When a card holder desires a book that is not contained in the branch where he asks for it, requisition on headquarters is made at once either through the express messenger or by telephone in case of haste; and the book is looked up in the union catalogue. If it is not in the Library, note is made, and the title comes up for consideration in connection with the requests for purchase at an early date. If it is in one or more branches, these are noted on a card which is one of a package taken out each morning by the express messenger. He inquires at each Library in order, and the book is either sent at once to the branch where it is wanted, or if this cannot be done, note is made to reserve it for that purpose. During the past year, 23,632 such notices were sent through the Catalogue Department to branches and 8,690 books were borrowed from other branches through the system. Each of these represents a definite want satisfied, which would have remained unfilled under the old plan.

The coöperative work with the schools, outlined in the last report, has been extended during the past year. Nine libraries with as many surrounding groups of schools have been added to the operation of the plan, making it now apply to 15 libraries and 103 schools, in which are 189,018 pupils and nearly 5,000 teachers. In each school a bulletin board, on the main stairway, bears the name of the nearest branch, a list of all the branches, the terms under which teachers and pupils may use the library, and announcements of whatever matters may be considered by the nearest branch librarian to be of interest to the school. All work with teachers has been assigned to one assistant in each branch, who is expected to familiarize herself with the course of study, to keep in touch with the public schools and to know personally as many teachers and principals as possible. Card indexes are made of books specially desired by teachers, which are obtained through the inter-branch loan system, or, if not in the library, are suggested for purchase. Titles of new books relating to grade work are posted on the proper school bulletins. The reference work with school children has been made simple by appropriate grouping. Term plans for the school years from the fifth to the eighth have been prepared with the aid of the school authorities, and notices have been posted at the schools stating that the nearest Library is prepared to give special attention to pupils who desire to consult books of reference in connection with their scheduled grade work. The cost of this method of reaching pupils and teachers has been small. The results have been generally good, but vary much with locality and with the interest of teachers and Library assistants. The assistants to whom this work is assigned have charge of it in addition to their own labors, and results would be better if their entire time could be devoted to it. Such work with schools as is done through travelling libraries is of course in charge of the TRAVELLING LIBRARY office.

The work of the Library for the BLIND has gone on so quietly that few realize that we have here one of the largest circulating collections of books for the blind in the world. The total of 2,586 volumes (including 572 pieces of sheet music), is distributed among the different systems of typography as follows:

	BOOKS.	MUSIC.
New York point.....	772	571
Moon type	724	...
Boston line	370	1
English Braille	98	...
American Braille	20	...
French Braille	30	...
	2,014	572

In connection with this branch a teacher is employed whose duty it is to seek out blind persons who cannot afford instruction and to teach them to read. During the year this teacher made 109 visits, gave 222 lessons, and distributed 618 books. Free use has been made of the new law permitting books for the blind to circulate gratis through the mails, and attention to it has been called through placards at all the branches, the books being subject, like others, to the privileges of the inter-branch loan system.

The kleidograph is in constant use at the branch, putting into New York point books or short stories that cannot be otherwise obtained in type for the blind, and we are also preparing a card catalogue in New York point, the first of the kind to be made in any library, so far as we have information.

This branch will be removed, in the course of the following year, to new quarters in the Carnegie Building, on Amsterdam Avenue, between 81st and 82nd Streets (St. AGNES Branch), where its usefulness will be largely increased.

The Department now contains books in 12 living foreign languages. Some idea of the variety of tongues in which books for home use are now available to the citizens of New York may be gained from the following table:

German	25,299
French	9,549
Russian	1,780
Hebrew	1,040
Spanish	473
Yiddish	199
Hungarian	194
Bohemian	160
Italian	147

In addition, 320 books in the Roumanian language have been ordered.

The circulation of these books has hitherto been reported together as "foreign," except in the OTTENDORFER Branch, where German has been reported separately; but we have now begun to record the circulation in each foreign tongue, no matter how small, and in a year's time the results can be reported.

In the case of the less common tongues, the policy has been to concentrate their books as far as possible in one or two branches, located in the parts of the city where those tongues are spoken. Thus the greater part of the Russian and Hebrew collections is at EAST BROADWAY; the Roumanian, at RIVINGTON STREET; the Yiddish, at RIVINGTON STREET and CHATHAM SQUARE; the Hungarian, at TOMPKINS SQUARE, and the Bohemian, at WEBSTER. Languages in which purchases should be made during the coming year are Finnish, Swedish, and modern Greek.

The office of Travelling Libraries removed on December 29, 1904, to its new quarters in the basement of the RIVERSIDE BRANCH Building, where it will remain until the completion of the Central Library. Here it has not only adequate space for storing its books, but pleasant desk-room, and a reception room for teachers, with a model school library of 1,500 volumes, including all titles that have been approved for school use by the Board of Education. Of these, 900 still remain to be catalogued. Visiting librarians and members of the National Educational Association have shown much interest in this plan.

We now supply many evening schools with books which are appreciated by students who are prevented by long working hours from visiting the branches. Among these are many mothers and daughters, who are trying to acquire skill in millinery, dressmaking, and house work, whom we have supplied with books on these subjects. The students of the evening schools include people of almost every race, and there is no age limit. We were told that it would be unsafe to try to circulate books in these schools, as no dependence could be placed upon the students; yet we have had very few mislaid books.

A notable feature of the home libraries among the older children and students this year has been the requests for books supplementing the reading required in schools; thus pointing to an unusual opportunity for coöperation between library and school.

During the past year our first Travelling Library in a large department store has been opened. There is no reason why others should not avail themselves of this service. We have supplied a large insurance company for several years, and it is probable that in all cases where extensive business establishments employ a social secretary, or welfare agent, a Travelling Library would be an acceptable feature of her work.

The circulation of books with the Recreation Department of the Board of Education has been decreased by the shortage in the funds of that Department, by the closing of several centres, and the entire cessation of the home circulation. In the summer playgrounds of 1904, the person in charge of the books was obliged to do all the clerical work; consequently the library suffered from lack of attention.

The Travelling Libraries also supply several camps and vacation homes.

The publication of the "Monthly List of Books Added to the Circulation Department" has been continued, and in it have been included from time to time special lists of popular interest. Among these during the past year have been lists on the following subjects:

Books for Stenographers and Typewriters; Russia in the East; Korea; Manchuria; Tibet; Industrial Arbitration; Trades Unions; The Presidency; Costume; Physical Education. Besides these, numerous lists of books in separate branches have been posted in those branches from time to time, often accompanied by illustrative bulletins, some of which have been of considerable artistic merit.

The loss of books from the shelves, as shown by the annual inventory, seems to have been slightly lessened, so far as comparison is possible. For the 17 branches reported on last year, the loss this year was 5,241, a decrease of 684, or about 11 per cent. In this group are included two branches (GEORGE BRUCE and OTTENDORFER) whose shelves have been partially closed; these report respectively for the last three years the following net losses:

	1902-'03	1903-'04	1904-'05
GEORGE BRUCE Branch.....	361	587	349
OTTENDORFER Branch.....	508	382	230

During the first of the years the shelves were entirely open; for part of the second they were partially closed, and the partial closing was in operation the whole of the third year. At the OTTENDORFER Branch the English and German collections are inventoried on alternate years, so that the proper comparison is between the first and third columns.

The partial closing has evidently reduced the loss, though not so greatly as might have been expected.

Outside of this group of 17 libraries, there are four (HARLEM LIBRARY, WEBSTER, RIVINGTON STREET, and TOTTEVILLE) which make this year their first annual report of losses as branches of the Public Library. The net loss from these four was 1,192. No complete inventory for the year has been taken in the five former branches of the Cathedral Library, which consolidated on January 1st last, or in the libraries organized and opened during the year. These began to take inventory on July 1, 1905.

The statistical reports given herewith include records of the five former branches of the Cathedral Free Library (now our AMSTERDAM AVENUE, CATHEDRAL, SACRED HEART, ST. RAPHAEL'S, and EPIPHANY Branches) only since consolidation; that is, since January 1, 1905. The full year's work of the Department, with its 31 branches, at it stands at present, is greater than this by the work done by these libraries during the six months of our library year previous to their consolidation. The number of books added would thus be increased by 2,675, and the circulation by 145,311, making the corresponding totals 60,889 added, and home circulation 3,691,500.

The monthly meetings of the staff for discussion of library topics and problems were continued with the same interest as usual. Three meetings were held in the LENOX Branch, three at ASTOR, and one at TOMPKINS SQUARE, one at RIVERSIDE, one at SIXTY-SEVENTH STREET. Some curious and instructive exhibits were made of the maps, prints, and books touched on in the topics under discussion. Beside members of the staff, Miss Haines, of the Library Journal, Miss Lord, of Pratt Institute, and some of the Long Island librarians took part in the discussions; and in April, Hon. John Boyd Thacher of Albany gave a most interesting talk on the French Revolution as illustrated by the manuscripts, prints, portraits, maps, etc., then on exhibition at LENOX.

The success of the Library in supplying the needs of the public has been largely due to the efficiency and zeal of the members of the staff in the several departments and branches, and I take great pleasure in calling special attention to the satisfactory manner in which their services have been rendered.

Very respectfully,

J. S. BILLINGS,

Director.

ISRAEL D. ANDREWS' CLAIMS UNDER THE RECIPROCITY
TREATY OF 1854.

The following letters relating to the claims of Israel D. Andrews in connection with the negotiation of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 between the United States and Great Britain are printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

Andrews, a native of Maine, for five years American consul at St. John, New Brunswick, and then for two years consul-general for Canada, was selected by Webster to help in negotiating the treaty of 1854 with Great Britain. This was noteworthy as the first American reciprocity agreement; it remained in force until March 17, 1866, when it was terminated on notice given by the United States.

Four years after it had been signed controversy arose in Congress about the payment of Andrews' claims. Papers relating thereto were presented to the Senate on July 1, 1858 (Senate Journal, p. 565, 35. Congress, 1. Session), but were not printed; Mason and Seward spoke in favor of the claim (Congressional Globe, 29. Congress, 1. Session, pp. 2572-3), and the sundry civil bill for 1859, approved June 12, 1858, carried with it an allowance for payment (11 Statutes at Large, 327). Two years later Andrews himself on June 6, 11, 12, 1860, presented memorials to Congress on this treaty of 1854 (36. Congress, 1. Session, Senate Journal p. 609, House Journal p. 1069), but only one, that of June 6, was ever printed in full (House Miscellaneous Documents, 92, 36. Congress, 1. Session).

WASHINGTON, DEC. 1st, 1858

DEAR SIR,

I have seen the act of Congress authorizing the settlement for your services in connection with the reciprocity treaty.

I recollect that you were engaged in making investigations as to the effects of the treaty upon the trade of the two countries and removing objections to the treaty in the States & Provinces. I recollect that Gov. Marcy did not consider he had authority to settle all your claims and that your services were very valuable in satisfying the citizens on both sides of the line of the beneficial character of such a treaty and having its favorable consideration by Congress.

I trust you will have no difficulty in obtaining an adjustment of your claims under the present act and will be able to have ample justice done for your services and expenditures.

Respectfully

JAMES GUTHRIE.

BOSTON, DECEMBER 8th, 1858

Hon. LEWIS CASS,
Secretary of State,

MY DEAR SIR,

Several gentlemen, whose interests are connected with the Provincial trade between this country and the British provinces, have recently called on me in regard to Mr. J. D. Andrews' claims upon the United States' government.

They have requested me to state to you anything that I may know in relation to Mr. Andrews' connection with the negotiation of the so-called "Reciprocity Treaty," and in compliance with their request, I have now the honor to address you.

I have no official knowledge of the business, but being much in Washington and with my father when he filled the place which you now honor, I was aware that Mr. Andrews came to Washington from the Provinces, and there remained, at my father's request, a long time, and was in constant consultation and conference with him in regard to this treaty. Mr. Andrews came several times from the colonies to Boston and New York to meet my father, at his request, and twice came to see him at Marshfield where he remained some days.

His intercourse with Mr. Webster was of an official and confidential nature and I did not know the particulars of it, but was told by Mr. Webster that Mr. Andrews was, under his instructions, preparing the way for the negotiation of the Treaty, afterwards concluded, and he spoke in high terms of commendation of the ability, sagacity and discretion which Mr. Andrews exhibited.

Mr. Webster relied much upon Mr. Andrews' extensive and minute knowledge of the trade between the two countries, and his acquaintance with the character and interests of the people of the various British Provinces.

It may not become me to speak as of my own knowledge, of his indefatigable exertions to accomplish the negotiation of this treaty, but I can do no less, in compliance with the request which has been made to me, than to state what I know of his official intercourse with the then Secretary of State, and of the many occasions on which he was called to confer with him, coming great distances and spending much time in various places where the Secretary of State desired him to repair.

I have the honor to be,
With great respect,
your friend and servt.,
FLETCHER WEBSTER.

BOSTON, DEC. 14, 1858

Hon. ROBERT TOOMBS,
DEAR SIR,

I do not know that I can with propriety express to you what I am sure is a very strong and general feeling of our merchants and men of business here as to the claims of Mr. J. D. Andrews late Agent of the United States; but I hope at least that I shall not prejudice those claims by bringing to your notice the fact that they are deemed most equitable and just by all who have paid any attention to the subject. The belief here is very strong that we owe our Reciprocity treaty to his energy, zeal and discretion; and that for this great service, expensive in itself, and of permanent and wide utility, he is substantially to this day uncompensated. He is not merely uncompensated, but is very largely unpaid an actual debt of money, time and labor.

It has been a cause of great satisfaction that an Act of Congress has recognized this claim; and that it has been referred for adjustment to the Department of State; but I may be forgiven for saying that our business community still feel that to the influence, friendship and ability of such a member of Congress as yourself, much of the practical value of this Legislation must be ultimately ascribed.

I have written so much by way of expressing the general wish and opinion of our community, but I cannot hinder myself from adding on my own personal account that I have the greatest love and esteem for Mr. Andrews and that I should rejoice to know that in this case justice had been done to an excellent man and a personal friend.

I am faithfully and respectfully

Your obt. servt.

RUFUS CHOATE.

JAMES MADISON TO JAMES MONROE ON ALLEGED SPANISH
INTRIGUING IN 1816.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

DEAR SIR,

As you appear to have read hastily the letter from Jessup I send it back. That Onis is intriguing at N[ew]. O[rleans]. is probable; and that the Spanish Gov^t: may meditate an attack there is possible: I should say impossible if there were less of folly in its Councils or it might not possibly be backed by another Gov^t: altho it is not easy to conceive that this can be the case. The Mercantile Advertiser of N. Y. enclosed has a paragraph relating to the views at Madrid, which but for Jessups letter would scarcely have attracted notice. If the offensive defiance alluded to by this officer should be carried into execution it would be perhaps the boldest project ever assumed by no higher authority I am glad he has made known to Gen. Jackson the aspect of things in that quarter: tho the extract of his letter does not contain the most essential particulars stated to you. Should Spain really make war upon us, the employment of our naval force in the Mediterranean will be very mal apropos. The scantiness of our land force in that quarter will also be much felt. We must pay attention without delay to such precautionary measures as prudence and the means we have may warrant. Surely if there be such mischief brewing at Madrid, Ewing must discover & communicate it. From Cadiz also we may expect notice of the hostile preparations which would shew themselves at that point

I return you Hughes' letter which I suppose you can answer without any further sanction than I have already expressed. The other letters relating to Beasley & Strobell I shall forward to M^r: Graham. You will see by letter now sent you that Sharpe has a formidable competition for the Secretariship of Illinois Territory

The enquiry of the King of the Netherlands on the subject of navigation is more striking than the logic by which he contends for the authority & obligation of the Ex. to apply the Act of Congs to his case. We can not object to his reciprocating our discriminations if we do not make the application: and that will suffice for the present, whilst it leaves the way open to future conventional arrangements, if such can be agreed on

JAMES MADISON TO JAMES MONROE ON WEST INDIES SLAVERY
IN 1816.

From the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

MONTPE^R. July 26 1816.

DEAR SIR

I have just rec^d. yours of the 24th M^r. Coler leaves me this moment on his way to Washington. There will certainly be an advantage in sending him in a pub: vessel; and I am glad it can be done with so little expence. If the Cong^s will suffice for this purpose it will be better than to send the Guerriere which may possibly be wanted for other service.

You have not yet alluded to any correspondence with De Neuville, whose letter to you & my answer were sent for your perusal, and the latter for your judgment on its expediency. If they did not get to your hands be so good as to mention it, that the accident may be repaired. If my answer was not decreed objectionable & was forwarded be so good as to return the letter of De Neuville, I think you have on hand some other letters to be returned.

Herewith are the communications from M^r. Adams. He pinches Castlereah not a little. I always suspected that the enlistments & apprenticeships of captured Negroes in the W^{est} Ind^{ies} would be the refuge agst: the allegations on our part. But if the former be for life & the latter for 14 years even for those of mature age, & both be found as the law and order in Council shew how can either be a situation in which the unfortunate blacks are protected in the priveleges of freemen? Nor is it conceivable that the Act of Parl^t which contemplates evidently the african trade and seizures on the high seas, can be fairly applied to negroes in the U States in a slavery originating with G. B herself seduced or forced thereupon with her sanction and rec^d on board vessels within the waters of the U. S. As the B. Gov^t presses a full scrutiny into the charges agst: its officers whether wth a view to discredit this Gov^t or for whatever other purpose it will be proper to promote the establishment of the trade. It will be particularly proper to keep in the front of this transaction the inviting proclamation of the B Commander and the bondage de facto into which it is admitted that the negroes are placed under the name of pardon & protection. I hope M^r. Adams will not fail in the most suitable stage of the business to do justice to this view of the subject. It will put our charges on defensible ground, even if we fail to establish what is fairly to be believed that the captives or fugitives in question were sold into the ordinary slavery of the W. Indies. The object of L^d Castlereah evidently is to draw the question to a point most difficult of proof and in the failure of it to avail himself of an ostentatious zeal for an impracticable investigation.

Yours

WILLIAM CAMPBELL TO CHARLES CUMMINGS ON THE BATTLE OF GUILFORD COURT HOUSE, 1781.

Printed from the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.

ASPEN-VILLE, 28th MARCH 1781

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR

I got home last Monday Evening in good health from my Excursion into N^o Carolina, and had the Happiness to find my little Family well

I imagine you have already heard the particulars of the Action at Whitsill's Mill on the sixth Instant and make no doubt but those of the Action near Guilford Court House, will be satisfactory to you General Greene having collected an Army of 4500 Men at the High Rock Ford of Haw River began his march from that place, in quest of the Enemy, on Monday the 12th Inst, and determined to give them Battle the first Opportunity. General Cornwallis lay at that time within two or three miles of Guilford Court House on a Branch called Buffaloe, and upon General Greene's advancing toward him, he retired into a Fork of Deep-River about eight Miles above the Courthouse. Our Army got up to Guilford C. House in the Evening of the 14th, and encamped about a Mile above it that Night Myself and Col^o Lynch who had the Command of the Corps of Riflemen, with Colonels Washington and Lee of the light Dragoons were advanced about a Mile in Front of the Army and about seven miles from the Enemy Early next morning we had Intelligence of the Enemy being in Motion and marching towards us, upon which Col^o Lee with his Legion, and about 30 of my Riflemen under the Command of Captain Fata of the Augusta Militia, went out to meet them, while the rest of the Riflemen, and Col^o Washington's Horse, formed at our Encampment to Support them in their Retreat back They met with the Van of the Enemy about two Miles from where we were formed, and immediately began to Skirmish with them, and continued retreating and fighting with them near half an hour, which disconcerted and retarded the Enemy very Considerably In the mean time the main Body of our Army was formed about three quarters of a Mile in rear of us, and upon the Legions reinforcing us, we were ordered back to take our Position in the Line of Battle We had not been formed there above ten Minutes before the Canonade began in the Center, which lasted about 15 Minutes in which time the Enemy were forming by filing off to the right & Left and then immediately advanced upon our Troops, upon which the firing of the small Arms began The Virginia Regulars & Militia, with the first Maryland Regt behaved with the greatest Bravery, and the Riflemen who acted upon the Wings have done themselves honor: But unhappily a whole Brigade of the N^o Carolina Militia, of about 1000 Men abandoned their Post upon the first onset; many of them never fired their Guns, and almost the whole of them threw away their Arms and fled with the greatest Precipitation To this Misfortune is attributed our being obliged to quit the Field, tho the Battle was maintained long and obstinately; all agree that it lasted two hours & a half, and I think myself it was considerably more. The Enemy followed us no farther than the Heights just above Guilford C. House, and our Army retreated in good Order to Speedwell Furnace which is about ten Miles below, there the most of the Troops who were dispersed in the Action assembled next day. The Enemy lay at Guilford Court House from thursday till Sunday 12 oClock (being employ'd in burning their dead and taking care of their wounded), and that Evening retreated to New-Garden Meeting House where they left a Number of their wounded and wrote to General Greene requesting they might not be ill treated by the Americans. The next day (Monday) they continued their Retreat to Centre Meeting House, and next morning I left Camp & have not had any certain Intelligence from them since, tho' I make no doubt but there has been another Battle, as I have every Reason to believe that General Greene intended a pursuit.

The Return of our kill'd and wounded does not amount to more than 250 Men; that of the Enemy is said from the last Accounts to be near 1000, among whom are some of their principal Officers—Col^o Loveless & Major Stuart of the Regiment of Guards are killed, General O'Hara mortally wounded, and the favorite Tarleton shot through the Hand. We have no Officer higher than a Major killed, and only one of that Rank; General Stephens was shot through the thigh.

Tho we lost the Battle, our Army is now as formidable as at the first, and such another victory must ruin the Enemy. Their Numbers after the last Action were not more than 1700 effective Men, and I could not learn they had any Expectation of a Reinforcement. Our Affairs, in my Opinion, are in a more favorable train to the Southward, than they have been since the reduction of Charles Town, and I flatter myself the destruction of the British Army to the Southward is at hand, which will, and that alone, restore peace to all the Southern department.

Before I conclude you will please to give me leave, just to hint to you, that I purpose to offer myself a Candidate at the ensuing Election for Representatives of this County in General Assembly, and if I am not so unhappy as to have forfeited your Confidence and Esteem you will permit me to request your Interest on that Occasion. I have resigned my Commission as Col^o of Washington County, as I thought I could not hold it longer with honor, but I esteem the People, and wish to devote every faculty I am possessed of to their service, wherein I can do it with Credit

I am, with perfect Respect and Esteem dear Sir

Your most obd^t and very hble Serv^t

WM. CAMPBELL.

M^{rs} Campbell gives her best Compliments to Yourself and M^{rs} Cummins; You will please to make mine agreeable to her. W. C.

On recommendation of the Director the Board of Trustees voted at its regular meeting held December 13, to keep the Astor branch open until 9 P. M. on week days, to extend the hours of six reading rooms in circulation branches from 9 to 10 P. M., and to open twelve reading rooms in circulation branches on Sunday afternoons and evenings—these changes to go into effect in January next.

As it will be difficult, if not impossible, at the Astor branch in the evening to find books not on the main floor, owing to lack of light on the shelves, it will be best for readers to give notice during the day as to what books they desire for evening use, that these books may be found and made ready for their use. This notification may be given by filling out order slips in the usual way or by postal card or letter.

The Board also approved the recommendation to keep open until 10 P. M. reading rooms in the Rivington Street, Ottendorfer, Tompkins Square, Yorkville, Amsterdam Avenue, and Tremont branches; and to open on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 6 o'clock reading rooms in the Chatham Square, Rivington Street, Ottendorfer, Tompkins Square, Jackson Square, Yorkville, 96th Street, Bloomingdale, Aguilar, Harlem Library, and Mott Haven branches.

One of the important gifts of the month came from Mrs. Henry Draper, 61 volumes, 97 pamphlets, 8 photographs, 13 prints, 1 map; included in this lot was a collection of 24 volumes relating to witchcraft, alchemy, etc., ranging in date from Lambertus Danaeus' "Dialogue of Witches" (1575) to the "Short enquiry concerning the hermetic art, addressed to the studious by a lover of Philalethes" (1714); John Webster's "Displaying of supposed witchcraft" (1677) is a copy of interest aside from its importance as an early attack on current opinions about witches, being a large paper copy from the Ashburnham library; other titles worthy of mention are William Perkins' "Discourse of the damned art of witchcraft" (1610), John Gaule's "Select cases of conscience touching witches and witchcraft" (1646), Glauber's "New philosophical furnaces" (1615), and the 1689 edition of his Works, Glanvil's "Vanity of dogmatizing" (1662), Beecher's "Magnalia naturæ" (1680), the "Theologia mystica" (1633), Bekker's "World bewitched" (1695), and Beaumont's "Historical, physiological, and theological treatise of spirits, apparitions, witchcrafts, and other magical practices" (1705).

From the Suomalaisen Kirjallisuuden Seura of Helsingfors, Finland, was received a large and interesting collection of its publications, 83 pieces in number, making a valuable addition to our material on the history, language, and literature of Finland.

Other noteworthy gifts came: From the American Railway Master Mechanics Association, 4 volumes, reports of proceedings of conventions; from John Bigelow, 8 volumes, being the record of indemnities paid by France for damages to the French proprietors in the Island of Santo Domingo during the French Revolution, with their names, etc., 1827-1833, and 35 copies of "Lest we forget, Gladstone, Morley and the Confederate loan of 1863, a rectification by John Bigelow," New York, 1905; from the "Chief" Publishing Co., copies for each branch of their instructions for entering the Customs service, for applicants for firemen, for letter-carriers, for patrolmen; from Cleveland H. Dodge, 28 volumes and 10 pamphlets; from the Educational League, 29 volumes and 93 pamphlets, chiefly Russian periodicals; from the Inner Temple Library, London, its "Register of burials at the Temple Church, 1628-1853, with an introduction by Rev. H. G. Woods," London, 1905; from the Königlische Preussische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Berlin, the volume issued in commemoration of its bi-centennial; from the Mexican Secretary of Foreign Affairs, a copy of "Mexico, its social evolution . . . monumental inventory summing up in masterly expositions the great progress of the nation in the 19th century," edited by J. Balleca, Mexico, 1905, 3 large folio volumes; from the Colonial Secretary of Newfoundland, 5 volumes of the Journal of the Legislative Council; from the Order of Scottish Clans, 18 pamphlets, reports of officers, minutes of annual conventions, etc.; from the Society of the Iconophiles, 16 prints, lithographs of New York by Joseph Pennell, and aquatints by Mielatz; from Thomas D. Sugden, a manuscript entitled "Remarks on wood-engraving by 'One o' Them,'" comprising his recollections of American wood-engraving and his reflections on the art, and including several plates of interest, such as Anderson plates after Bewick, impressions from Anderson blocks, and a very early original drawing by the late Michael Angelo Woolf made about 1844; from Howard Townsend, a holograph letter from Lord Jeffrey, of the Edinburgh Review, written at New York, 9 October, 1813, to President Monroe, giving his reasons why he should not be held as a prisoner of war; and from J. Alden Weir, 45 of his etchings.

On the occasion of the centenary of Schiller's death, an effort was made to obtain the "Festschriften," programmes, and newspaper accounts of the American celebrations; thus far over 200 newspapers and about 100 programmes, etc., have been received from 78 cities out of a total of 112 in which the centenary was observed.

Other additions of German-American interest are: from T. A. Brühl, Cincinnati, various works by his late father, Dr. Gustav Brühl; from Richard Müller, New York, souvenirs of the visit of Prince Henry in 1902; from Hugo Münch, the "Gesammelte Schriften" of his late father Friedrich Münch, St. Louis, 1902; from H. A. Rattermann, 4 pieces, including his "Adolph Zipperlen, deutsch-amerikanischer Arzt, Zoologe, Humorist und Reiseschriftsteller," Cincinnati, 1905; from Rev. John Rothensteiner of Fredericktown, Mo., his "Indiansommer, neue Lieder und Gedichte," St. Louis, 1905, and 17 other publications.

At the LENOX branch the exhibition of Works by Adolf von Menzel was continued. The John Paul Jones exhibit was replaced on November 26, 1905, by a collection of etchings, dry points, and one line engraving by J. Alden Weir, to which were added three etchings by the late John H. Twachtman. A small selection of the material used in the Jones exhibition was continued on view.

At the ASTOR branch the plates from "Moderne Ziermotive" and "Moderne Kunstschmiedearbeiten" were replaced on November 28th by plates from Souslow's "Monuments de l'ancienne Architecture russe," illustrating Russian ecclesiastical architecture and decoration, and a selection of plates from the photographic fac simile (Paris, 1900) by E. Thézard, fils, of "The Works in Architecture of Robert and James Adam" (London, 1778).

Picture bulletins and temporary collections of books on special shelves at the Circulation branches were as follows: CHATHAM SQUARE, Prominent magazine editors; EAST BROADWAY, Some animals of the Zoological Garden at Bronx Park, German composers; BOND STREET, Patriotic songs of America, Across New England States, English American and Scotch ballads; OTTENDORFER, Operas, George Eliot; TOMPKINS SQUARE, Books on art, Birthdays of celebrated men and women, November, Political conditions in New York City, Tuberculosis; JACKSON SQUARE, Norway and Sweden; BRUCE, Mother plays, Art of printing, Dutch boys and girls; 59TH STREET, Outlines of development of art, Renaissance; 67TH STREET, Pilgrim exiles, cover designs of new books; RIVERSIDE, Foreign children, Automobiles, Music, Pilgrims and Puritans; ST. AGNES, Public lectures; AMSTERDAM AVENUE, Autumn leaves, William Cullen Bryant, Louisa M. Alcott, English and American battleships, Portraits of Prince Louis of Battenberg and Admiral Evans; 96TH STREET, Sea stories; BLOOMINGDALE, Foreign children, Dutch life, Indians of America, Famous paintings, Lecture lists, School lists; AGUILAR, Electricity and Magnetism, Japan, Commercial and Industrial Africa, Panama Canal, Legends of the Holy Grail, Argentine Republic, Life in Maine woods; HARLEM, Tyrol, Territorial expansion of the United States; 135TH STREET, College stories, Fairy tales, Charles Dickens; MOTT HAVEN, Asia, Norway.

In addition there were bulletins on Thanksgiving Day at twenty-one branches, on New Books at five branches, on November Birthdays at two branches, on Animals at two branches, and on the Hudson River at two branches.

There was an exhibition of cord-making and of costumes at the Tremont branch.

LIST OF WORKS IN THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY RELATING TO WOMAN.

This list does not include publications of women's clubs, women's colleges, charities and mission organizations, etc. Magazine articles have been noted only when their value or importance seemed to justify inclusion.
